NEW Indigenous DUAL LANGUAGE Editions

We are proud to present three very special translations in Anishinaabemowin, Nishnaabemwin, and Cree. Translation projects like these can help to widen the world of children's literature to welcome Indigenous language speakers and advance community relationships.

Translation to Nishnaabemwin (Ojibwe), Nbisiiing dialect

Gaawin Niin Ndoog-Gindaaswisii (I Am Not a Number)

JENNY KAY DUPUIS AND KATHY KACER, ILLUSTRATED BY GILLIAN NEWLAND
TRANSLATED BY MURIEL SAWYER AND GERALDINE MCLEOD

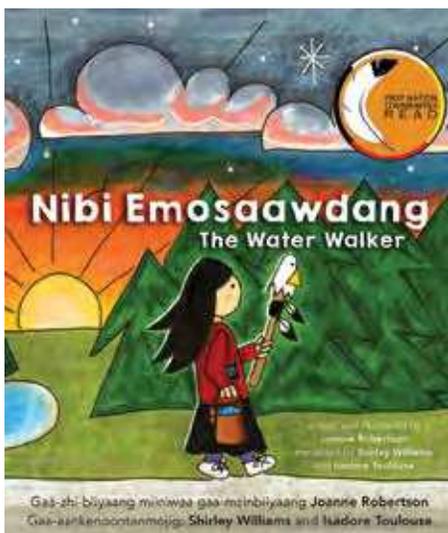

"We don't use names here. All students are known by numbers."

This multiple-award winning true story is based on the life experiences of Irene Couchie. Irene was removed from her First Nations family to live in a residential school in Spanish, Ontario where she was prohibited from speaking her traditional language and practicing her culture. The community-led translation to the Nbisiiing dialect in Irene's home of Nipissing First Nation in Ontario was an important opportunity for mentorship and language revitalization and drew special meaning from the fact that translators Muriel Sawyer and Geraldine McLeod knew Irene Couchie.

Nibi Emosaawdang (The Water Walker)

JOANNE ROBERTSON
TRANSLATED BY SHIRLEY WILLIAMS AND ISADORE TOULOUSE

The story of Anishinaabe water walker, Nokomis (Grandmother) Josephine Mandamin and her great love for Nibi (water). Nokomis, along with hundreds of other Water Walkers, walked to raise awareness of water protection. Anishinaabe translators Shirley Williams and Isadore Toulouse are from the same home community as Nokomis Josephine—Wiikwemkoong Unceded First Nation on Manitoulin Island, Ontario. This translation also draws meaning from the fact that Nokomis and Shirley Williams were sent to the same residential school, where they were forbidden to speak their language.

kimotinâniwîw itwêwina (Stolen Words)

MELANIE FLORENCE, ILLUSTRATED BY GABRIELLE GRIMARD
TRANSLATED BY DOLORES SAND AND GAYLE WEENIE

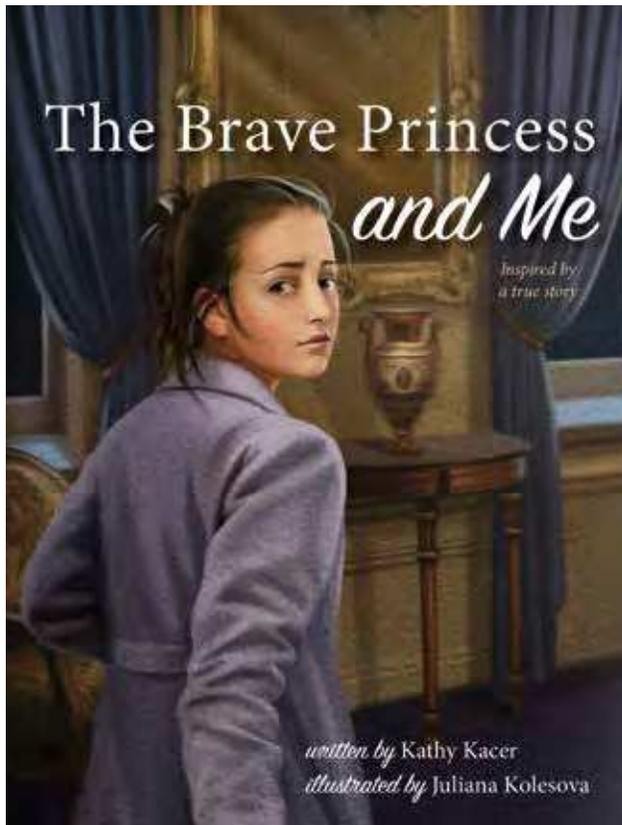

The story of the beautiful relationship between a little girl and her grandfather. When she asks her grandfather how to say something in his language—Cree—he admits that his language was stolen from him when he was a boy. The little girl then sets out to help her grandfather find his language again. Translators Dolores Sand and Gayle Weenie are both Plains Cree language speakers from Saskatchewan. Dolores Sand from Muskeg Lake Cree Nation and Gayle Weenie from Sweetgrass First Nation.

The Brave Princess and Me

KATHY KACER

ILLUSTRATED BY JULIANA KOLESOVA

Hidden from the Nazis by a princess

Includes a special section, with photographs, about Princess Alice. A real-life hero, Alice was the mother of the United Kingdom's Prince Philip, and the great-grandmother of Princes William and Harry.

In 1943, the Second World War is raging, and the Nazis have taken control of most of Europe—including Athens, where Princess Alice of Greece lives. Princess Alice is kind and accepting of people with different beliefs, backgrounds, and abilities. Born deaf, she knows what it is like to be discriminated against. With the arrival of the Nazis, all the Jews living in Greece are in danger, including young Tilde Cohen and her mother. On the run, they must find a safe place to hide. When they arrive, unannounced, on Princess Alice's doorstep and beg her to hide them, the princess's kindness is put to the test. With Nazi headquarters just steps from her door, will she risk her life to save theirs?

KATHY KACER is the award-winning author of numerous books that tell true stories of the Holocaust for young readers, including The Magician of Auschwitz and To Look a Nazi in the Eye. A former psychologist, Kathy speaks to children and adults about the importance of keeping the memory of the Holocaust alive. She lives in Toronto.

JULIANA KOLESOVA has more than twenty-five years of experience as an illustrator. She has successfully created hundreds of book covers for various publishers in Canada, the USA, and Europe. Her work has been recognized through numerous national and international awards, including Applied Arts awards for illustration, book cover design, and photography. She lives in Toronto.

Our Future

How Kids are Taking Action

JANET WILSON

Young activists are working to protect the future of our world

These young people from across the globe are raising awareness about what issues matter to them most. Jaelun Parkerson from Texas kneels with his football teammates during the national anthem to protest racial injustice; Canadian Autumn Peltier spoke in front of the United Nations to raise awareness about water pollution; and Melati Wijsen from Bali started working at age twelve to convince her government to ban plastic bags.

From oil pipelines to cyber bullying, from gun violence to animal protection, these activists don't let their youth stop them from being heard.

JANET WILSON is the artist and author of Our Earth: How Kids are Saving the Planet, Our Rights: How Kids are Changing the World, and Our Heroes: How Kids Are Making a Difference. Her other books include the award-winning Shannen and the Dream for a School. Janet loves to tell the stories of young people taking action. She lives in Eden Mills, Ontario.

Just Lucky

MELANIE FLORENCE

There's nothing lucky about your family falling apart

Fifteen-year-old Lucky loves her grandparents. True, her grandmother forgets things...like turning off the stove, or Lucky's name. But her grandfather takes such good care of them that Lucky doesn't realize how bad things are—until her grandfather dies suddenly and she is left caring for her grandmother on her own.

When her grandma sets the kitchen on fire, Lucky can't hide what's happening any longer. With no legal guardian left, she is sent into foster care and quickly learns that some foster families are okay. Some aren't. And some really, really aren't.

MELANIE FLORENCE is an award-winning writer of Cree and Scottish heritage. Her YA novels include The Missing, He Who Dreams, Rez Runaway, and One Night. She is the author of the picture books Missing Nimama and Stolen Words and the nonfiction Righting Canada's Wrongs: Residential Schools. Melanie lives with her husband and two children in Toronto.

The Stone Rainbow

LIANE SHAW

A book about coming out, falling in love, and self-acceptance

Seventeen-year-old Jack Pedersen is finding life complicated ever since he came out to his mom. Even though she's been doing her best to be understanding, it's obvious to Jack that his mom still wants to cry every time she says the word gay.

Complications go into hyperdrive when a new student arrives at school, and Jack starts experiencing feelings he's never allowed himself to have before. When a near tragedy turns life upside down, Jack realizes that it's time to stop hiding from himself and everyone around him.

LIANE SHAW has long been a passionate advocate for the rights of young people facing physical, emotional, and academic challenges. The Stone Rainbow was inspired by challenges faced by members of her own family. Her previous YA books are: Caterpillars Can't Swim; Don't Tell, Don't Tell, Don't Tell; The Color of Silence; Fostergirls; and thinandbeautiful.com.

What Makes Girls Sick and Tired

LUCILE DE PESLOÛAN
ILLUSTRATED BY GENEVIÈVE DARLING

Girls are sick and tired because sexism surrounds them every day

What Makes Girls Sick and Tired is a feminist manifesto that denounces the discrimination against and unfairness felt by women from childhood to adulthood. The graphic novel, illustrated in a strikingly minimalist style with images of girls with varied body types and personalities, invites teenagers to question the sexism that surrounds us, in ways that are obvious and hidden, simple and complex.

The Oracle of Cumae

MELISSA HARDY

No one gets the better of the Oracle of Cumae

Mariuccia Umbellino is a young woman living in the remote mountain village of Montemonaco, Italy, in the early years of the 19th century. Nearby, the secret recesses of the Grotto of the Fates—home to an ancient oracle of Apollo—are about to be invaded and destroyed on orders from the Pope. But the men sent to do the dirty work don't know who (or what) they're dealing with. This oracle and this girl won't be messed with.

In the dark of night, Mariuccia and her mother set out to rescue their revered oracle. In the adventure that ensues, things are blown up, love spells are miscast then recast, unwanted advances are made and repulsed, the tightly wrapped secret of a mummy is discovered under a chapel floor, and the mysterious fate of a jettatore—a person born with the Evil Eye—is finally revealed.

"One of the funniest novels I've read in a long time—maybe ever."
—Catherine Leggett, author of The Way to Go Home and In Progress.

"I had been under the apparently false impression that oracles are always dignified and confined to a single sacred space, but the oracle in Melissa Hardy's new novel is sly, meddlesome and peripatetic. She gets around in the company of a scruffy, independent-minded young girl, the narrator of this hilarious, anachronistic, romance/comedy of errors."
—Stan Dragland, author of Strangers & Others: The Great Eastern

MELISSA HARDY has published five novels and two collections of short stories, including Broken Road, The Uncharted Heart, and A Cry of Bees. She has won the Journey Prize and been published in numerous journals. Her short fiction has been widely anthologized, including twice in Best American Short Stories and in The Year's Best Fantasy and Horror and once in Best Canadian Short Stories. She has five children and two grandchildren and makes her home in Port Stanley, Ontario.

Inside Broadside

A Decade of Feminist Journalism

PHILINDA MASTERS

The feminist journal that both documented and helped change an era

A Feminist
History Society
Book
See pg. 31

Highlights include Susan Cole interviewing Gloria Steinem, as well as writing by Margaret Atwood, Maude Barlow, Susan Crean, June Callwood, Marian Engel, Michele Landsberg and others.

Broadside: A Feminist Review was a groundbreaking Canadian feminist newspaper published between 1979 and 1989. While Broadside paid attention to everything from feminists making art to street activism, it also covered the mainstream, from pop culture to peacemaking. It uncovered the work of female artists, and it developed challenging and risky new ideas, all while participating in the day-to-day organizing of a grassroots movement.

Broadside helped reinvent journalism to make room for a feminist voice. Inside Broadside looks at the impact of the newspaper on the lives of women. Through a selection of key articles, the book explores the issues and events, the conflicts and controversies, and the debates and discoveries of feminist theory and activism that formed the context and content of that most exciting decade, the 1980s, and of the newspaper itself.

PHILINDA MASTERS was the editor of Broadside: A Feminist Review from 1979–1989; and former editor of Resources for Feminist Research at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education from 1987 to 2011. She has been a feminist activist since the early 1970s when she worked at Toronto Women's Centre.
