

NATIVE NORTHWEST

ART BY INDIGENOUS ARTISTS

2024

CATALOGUE

Native Northwest builds everyday connections to Indigenous cultures.
100% of the art featured on Native Northwest products is designed by Indigenous artists.

ABOUT US

Native Northwest builds everyday connections to Indigenous cultures. 100% of the art featured on Native Northwest products is designed by Indigenous artists.

Native Northwest's story began over 40 years ago with a social worker, a rack of postcards, and the vision of building everyday connections to Indigenous cultures.

Each of our exchanges, from the sourcing and compensation of Indigenous artists, to our staff and merchants, are part of a lifelong relationship between Indigenous cultures and the communities we pledge to honour and respect.

Simone Diamond, Coast Salish

We acknowledge that Native Northwest operates on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territory of xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam) and Coast Salish people.

Leila Stogan, Musqueam, Coast Salish

Respect & Authenticity

We believe that Indigenous artists should be treated fairly and with respect.

Authenticity of art, design, and culture is the foundation to our mission of building everyday connections to Indigenous cultures.

Joe Wilson-Sxwaset
Coast Salish

Sharifah Marsden
Anishinaabe

COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIP

In 2021, Native Northwest established the Native Northwest Reconciliation Fund as a way to work with our customers and community partners to advance Reconciliation of the historic wrongs committed against Indigenous peoples.

The Native Northwest Reconciliation Fund supports people and families who continue to be impacted by Residential Schools and intergenerational trauma. Its purpose is to advance Reconciliation by funding initiatives that support Indigenous wellness, learning, and culture.

Native Northwest has funded 300+ Indigenous scholarships and awards at 20 partner colleges and universities.

Native Northwest 2021 Orange Shirt by Morgan Asoyuf, Ts'msyen, highlighted at Vancouver Whitecaps FC Soccer Game.

Native Northwest collaborates with Musqueam First Nation to create a memorial of orange shirts along the highway to University of British Columbia.

Scholarships and awards funded for Indigenous students at 20 universities and colleges

It's the photography student at Emily Carr University whose camera was stolen and needed another one. Through the Native Northwest Reconciliation Fund, she was able to buy a new one.

It's the Indigenous Education student at UBC who was struggling to put food on the table or pay for health insurance while studying. The Native Northwest Reconciliation Fund was able to assist.

It's the nursing student at Vancouver Island University who can finish his degree sooner in order to provide better healthcare to remote Indigenous communities.

Front cover artwork features Tlingit artist,
Nahaan's Chilkat Sun.
"Chilkat Sun reminds people of the kindness that can nourish people's spirit."

MEET THE ARTISTS

1. 100% of the art featured on Native Northwest products is designed by Indigenous artists
2. All artists have provided consent and contractual permission for their art to be featured on Native Northwest products
3. Artist names are acknowledged on all product packaging
4. Cultural traditions are honoured by acknowledging cultural affiliation on product packaging
5. Artists are paid in fees and royalties

"Our stories and traditions are woven into our textiles. These woven designs reflect our ancestral traditions and our connection to nature."

Leila Stogan
Musqueam, Coast Salish

"Our art retells our ancestors' stories about our connection to the land that we have respectfully lived on for thousands of years."

Francis Horne Sr.
Coast Salish

"My passion is to share Coast Salish art with my family, community and beyond. I am very touched when passing down this cultural legacy to my grandchildren."

Maynard Johnny Jr.
Coast Salish, Kwakwaka'wakw

"Art is central in our traditions and expresses who we are as a people. I am honoured to be an artist and share our culture with the world."

Ernest Swanson
Haida

"Art is an intimate connection to our history, identity and our community. I am honoured to continue our traditions and to share them."

Morgan Asoyuf
Ts'msyen (Tsimshian)

"I am delighted to share my art, which will hopefully touch people in a positive way and add to their day."

Nicole La Rock
Coast Salish

"I create art that connects me to my family, our traditions and our spirit of continuity."

Simone Diamond
Coast Salish

"I am honoured to share my culture and appreciate when people show their respect by using products that feature my designs."

Allan Weir
Haida

MEET THE ARTISTS

"I was raised in a way of life based on hunting, fishing, feasting, singing, dancing and visual arts. Art has always been communicated as an expression of spirit that is connected to people and ways of life."

Paul Windsor
Haisla, Heiltsuk

"I am honoured to create art that respects the traditions of my ancestors from the Naikun Raven clan on Haida Gwaii."

Corey Bulpitt
Haida

"My art and culture express the interconnection of all that surrounds us."

Darrell Thorne
Coast Salish

"My art tells women's stories, showcasing the beauty and creativity of life."

Sharifah Marsden
Anishinaabe

"Creating art honours my journey through my fires so that I might stand in truth; my work is not a career, it is a way of life."

Francis Dick
Kwakwaka'wakw

"I am a proud member of Lac Seul First Nation, Treaty Three Territory. I was born and raised in Winnipeg, Manitoba but currently reside in Red Lake, Ontario. My work is influenced by Ojibwe Florals and the nature around me."

Storm Angeconeb
Lac Seul First Nation, Ojibwe

"Through my art, I share our teachings, legends and myths."

Jason Adair
Ojibway

Nahaan is an interdisciplinary creator of expression perpetuating his family's Tlingit culture through sobriety, language facilitation, and leadership. He helped revive traditional tattoo culture on the Pacific Northwest Coast and is a movement oriented activist.

Nahaan is the first of his family to be born outside of Alaska and raised in Seattle.

SALISH WEAVING

by Leila Stogan,
Musqueam, Coast Salish

Leila Stogan is a master Salish weaver from the Musqueam Nation. In 1984, Leila studied traditional Musqueam weaving as part of the revitalization of an almost lost art.

Her weavings are showcased in the Museum of Anthropology at UBC, and in the book, Hands of our Ancestors, The Revival of Salish Weaving at Musqueam.

"Our stories and traditions are woven into our textiles.

Visions of Our Ancestors design reflects our ancestral traditions and our connection to nature.

Spirit of The Sky (Thunderbirds) represents the power and strength that we all share. These woven designs reflect our ancestral traditions and our connection to nature."

- Leila Stogan, Musqueam, Coast Salish

CHILKAT SUN

by Nahaan,
Tlingit

"Chilkat Sun" is an original design that reminds people of the kindness that can nourish people's spirit.

Nahaan is an interdisciplinary creator of expression perpetuating his family's Tlingit culture through sobriety, language facilitation, and leadership. He helped revive traditional tattoo culture on the Pacific Northwest Coast and is a movement oriented activist.

Nahaan is the first of his family to be born outside of Alaska and raised in Seattle.

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCES

We think that every home, classroom, and library should be a place of culturally connected learning.

Native Northwest learning tools offer a variety of cultural teachings, from the stories of the Salish Sea in the Pacific Northwest to in-language counting in Plains Cree and Ojibway in Central Canada and the US Midwest.

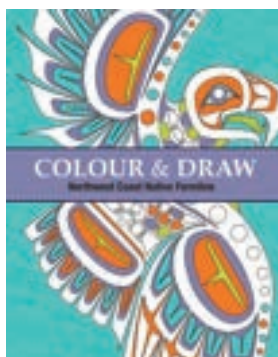

As the largest publisher of Indigenous early childhood resources, our books have become popular in curriculums and early childhood development programs across North America.

As part of our commitment to advancing early childhood education, Native Northwest has donated thousands of books, posters, and temporary tattoos to non-profit organizations and schools that support Indigenous children.

100% of the art featured in our books, games, and toys is designed by Indigenous artists.

Weaving Life Together:

Indigenous Colouring Journal on Diversity

Artist: Various Artists

Author: Melaney Gleeson-Lyall (Point),

Musqueam and Snaw-naw-as, Coast Salish Nations

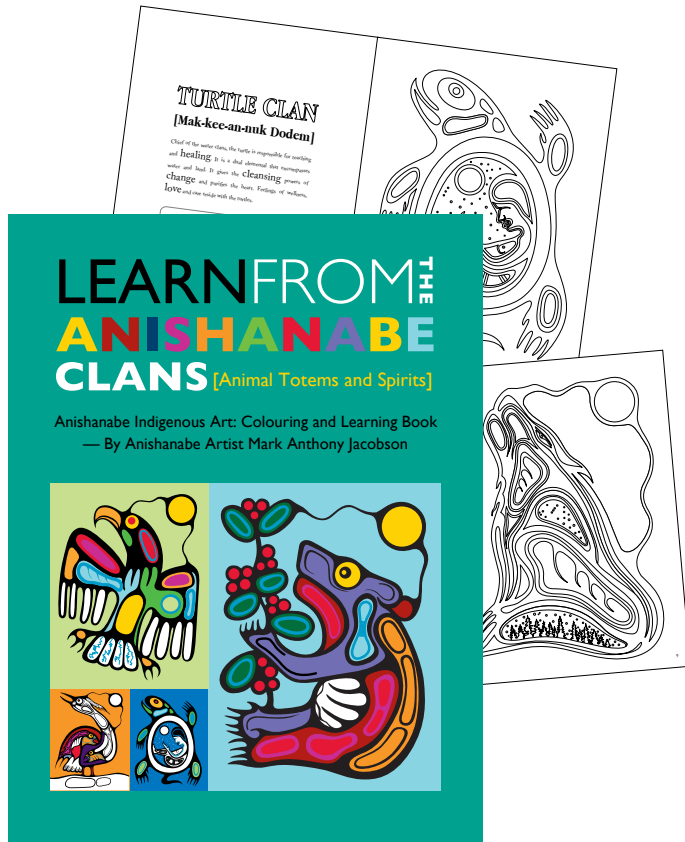

Weaving Life Together: Indigenous Colouring Journal on Diversity is an invitation to reflect, be creative and appreciate our connections with others and the natural world that we live in. As readers learn about the ideas put forward in Weaving Life Together, they are offered teachings to acknowledge, respect and celebrate the diversity in the world we live in.

Each page offers traditional and cultural insights into the natural and supernatural worlds. Thought-provoking questions are intended to deepen personal development and our relationships with others. The corresponding animal on the next page allows readers to take the time to further reflect and connect with their creativity as they colour in the animals.

Animals & Their Babies

Artists: Francis Horne Sr. and Simone Diamond, Coast Salish

Author: Simone Diamond, Coast Salish

Animals & Their Babies was created by father and daughter Coast Salish artists Francis Horne Sr. and Simone Diamond. It is the first Indigenous board book that features baby animals and their parents. Through this board book, young children can learn the names of baby animals while being introduced to traditional, authentic Coast Salish Indigenous art at an early age. Animals & Their Babies is Simone Diamond's first board book ever written.

"The vital love and bond between animals and their babies provide an endless source of inspiration."

Francis Horne Sr. and Simone Diamond, Coast Salish

"My daughter, Simone Diamond, was born into a world of creativity, blessed with a rich cultural background. From an early age she was passionate about learning Coast Salish Art.

Our art is our recorded history, expressing stories, legends and connections to ancestors and the natural world. Coast Salish artists become knowledge keepers and play an important role in the continuation of our art and culture.

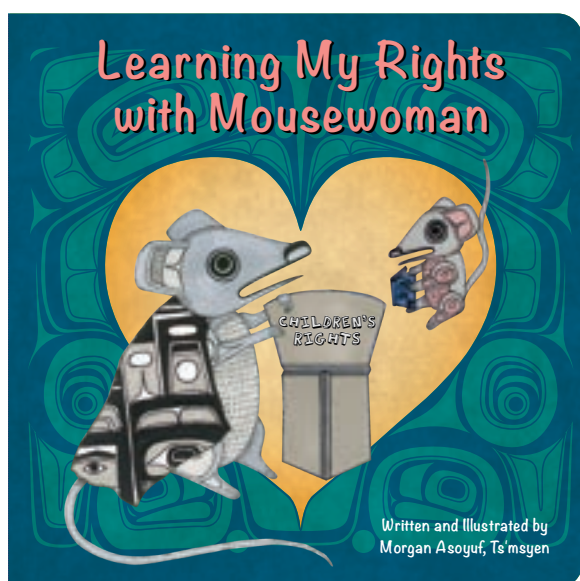

This book celebrates art, culture, the natural world and the love between parents and their children."

Francis Horne Sr., Coast Salish

"On a daily basis I witness the natural world around me. My observations translate into my art. Coast Salish art has allowed me to connect to my roots. My art is a form of expression that was waiting to manifest and chose to do that through my hands and vision. I am grateful that I get to share this gift with the world and hope that it inspires others to authentically express their own creativity in whatever form or medium that may be. Parenthood has allowed me to slow down in this fast-paced life to nurture my daughter's curiosities of the world around her."

Learning My Rights with Mousewoman
Artist & Author:
Morgan Asoyuf, Ts'msyen (Tsimshian)

The tiny but mighty Mousewoman is a legendary figure in the oral and visual practices of Northwest Coast Indigenous cultures. She is both grandmother and oracle, able to travel in and out of the spirit world. Mousewoman sits on young people's shoulders in crucial times, whispering advice and knowledge. She protects and guides young people by helping them avoid or escape bad situations, and is never afraid to stand up to bigger beings. This book brings to life the timeless lessons of Mousewoman—lessons that embody the principles outlined in the UN Declaration on the Rights of the Child and the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. A first of its kind, this book empowers children to become proudly aware of their rights.

Morgan Asoyuf (née Green) is a practicing goldsmith, carver, and visual artist with a special interest in social justice. She is mixed Scottish and Ts'msyen (Tsimshian) of the Eagle Clan on the Ks'yeen (Skeena) River. Her cultural experience includes halait work for crest owners, as well as feast culture. Morgan's biggest inspiration is her daughter Isabele, who motivates her to use her art form to encourage the protection of children and youth through the stories of Mousewoman. "Empowerment and critical thinking are the gifts that we can give the next generations. Ensuring the safety of children allows them to thrive and reach their full potential."
