When a Butterfly Goes to School

Classes. Lunch. Quiet time. The routine of school is a common experience for children. However, when a butterfly makes a migratory rest stop outside a school, such a typical day turns extraordinary. Her flashy wings provide a lesson in art. She zips and sips her way through lunch in the garden. Her life story of metamorphosis becomes history in the making. Young readers and observers will delight in watching the day unfold and be encouraged to search for the unexpected in their own lives.

Minnesota author Laura Purdie Salas has written more than 130 books, including Lion of the Sky, Clover Kitty Goes to Kittygarten, and Snowman-Cold=Puddle. Laura loves nature, donuts, and playing with words. She also loves to get kids excited about reading and writing.

Chloe Niclas is an illustrator from Baltimore, Maryland. She is fascinated by the unexplainable and bizarre aspects of the world, often executing the otherworldly and impossible to feel within reach of existence. Her work has been recognized by the Society of Illustrators, American Illustration, and the Art Director's Club.

A Home Like This

Homes throughout the natural world may be found in any manner of places, be made of any number of materials, and be permanent or temporary. As this poetic, illustrated board book makes the circuit from “big or little, below or above,” the feature that seems to link all kinds of homes—including those of humans—is that they are places “where we love.” Young readers and observers will enjoy naming the various animals and making comparisons among the types of dwellings as a positive sense of belonging is reinforced.

Minnesota author Laura Purdie Salas has written more than 130 books, including Lion of the Sky, Clover Kitty Goes to Kittygarten, and Snowman-Cold=Puddle. Laura loves nature, donuts, and playing with words. She also loves to get kids excited about reading and writing.

Miriam Nerlove is an illustrator whose detailed paintings of animals can also be found in 2019’s I Am Polar Bear, as well as in the board books Dot, Stripe, Squiggle and Spot, Spike, Spiral, all published by Creative Editions. She lives near Chicago.

Animals On Parade

From the days of the dinosaurs on through the present, animals have “come swimming, rolling, walking, stalking, running, gliding, sliding” through our world. Some stayed for only a short time, while others have endured for millennia; many have felt the effects of human influence (or outright interference). In this intricately illustrated accordion-fold book, presented in a slipcase, diverse groupings of creatures parade forward as the text describes the threats to their existence—until they encounter the embrace of adoring children, the conservators of all our futures.

Jane Yolen is an award-winning author, poet, and teacher. She has written more than 365 books, including What to Do with a Box, illustrated by Chris Sheban, and the Caldecott Medal-winning Owl Moon, illustrated by John Schoenherr. The Educational Book & Media Association honored her significant contributions with its 2018 Jeremiah Ludington Award.

Anne Yvonne Gilbert has designed and illustrated children’s books, postage stamps, record sleeves, and posters, infusing her work with a fairy-tale sensibility especially befitting the subject matter of the natural world. After many years spent in Canada, she and her husband make their home in northern England.

Summer's Child

The setting of our play is a cheerful forest scene on the first day of Summer. When a sudden storm threatens to scatter the creatures in darkness, Summer's Child knows just how to resolve the drama: with a splendid picnic and ice cream for all. This third installment in James Christopher Carroll's seasonal quartet sparkles and shines as Summer steals the stage.

James Christopher Carroll is an author, illustrator, and graphic designer whose recent picture books with Creative Editions include A Song, The World Below the Brine, Mother Winter, and Sister Spring. He lives with his family in upstate New York.
