OH. IT'S YOU.

Love Poems by Cats • By Francesco Marciuliano

From the author of the beloved I Could Pee on This series comes a new book of hilarious love poems from cats to their people. Cats have so many ways to say “I love you.” Sometimes it’s a gentle purr and a slow blink. Sometimes it’s a tiny dead animal offered in tribute. And sometimes, it’s expressed in that deepest of cat love languages: poetry. The author of the internationally bestselling series of tongue-in-cheek poetry helps cats put paw to keyboard to express the depth of their feline feelings in odes to breakfasts (on time, please!), ripped-up rugs (it’s a sign of affection!), the importance of keeping watch in the bathroom, and the perfect cardboard box that the expensive and totally ignored new cat bed arrived in. Illustrated by adorable and goofy cat photos, this book is the purrfect combination of snarky and sweet that every cat person knows is cat for true love.

Our Lap
 If I dig my claws into
 Your lap
 Just right
 I can stay with you
 I can be with you
 I can go with you
 Even after you get up
 And start walking around

Right Here
 After all these years
 I shouldn't have to
 Beg for your attention
 By lying down on your keyboard
 Accidentally typing
 Zqaq6534h88&5kd
 Only to think
 "My God
 I think I've finally started writing
 my novel!"

Believe in Us
 To me, you
 Will always be
 That special person
 Who bought the wrong cat bed
 Four times in a row
 Fear
 And yet I still try to make us work

Implicit Bias
 Implicit biases are unconscious attitudes that create a tendency to make assumptions based on deep-rooted feelings, even though they may be contrary to one's professed beliefs. These implicit biases translate into various attitudes and characteristics being applied to all members of a specific group, which equates to stereotyping. Implicit biases can affect how one behaves toward members of other groups in the criminal justice system, workplaces, schools, and in health care. It is important to take in reflection and categorize it in a way that will promote understanding. We seek out patterns and stereotypes to apply the way in which we perceive one another and the world. However, accepted influence can lead to harmful belief. Reducing awareness to one or recognizing based on stereotypes and characteristics that are identifying and disliking others than to choose who they want to be.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS TO FURTHER THE CONVERSATION ON IMPLICIT BIAS:
 • What do you think are the sources of your implicit bias, and how can you challenge them?
 • Can you think of examples of these biases changing or preventing someone's success?

Assimilation
 Assimilation is the process through which a minority group or a marginalized group adopts the language, values, culture, and social behaviors of the dominant group in a society.

Who learned their American is seen as a melting pot? Think of fusion, with various flavors all mixed down into one homogeneous dish. The melting pot metaphor speaks to a cooking where different types of people combine into one essentially homogenous culture. If you take a closer look, it is an imperfect way to speak about multiculturalism. Assimilating often means giving up cultural specific things, such as names, clothing, food, or religious practices, to be more recognizable to the dominant culture. The expectation to assimilate can negatively impact the cultural identities of both current and future generations—more completely erasing their native cultures.

Instead of looking at America as a pot full of melted flavors, let's think of it as a mixed green salad. A salad is the sum of all its distinct ingredients, which combine into different colors, textures, and tastes. Sprouts, tomatoes, lettuce, and onions combine, provide seeds, and textures don't lose their unique qualities when they come together. Instead, the ingredients complement one another.

The salad-bowl metaphor can be used to describe the assimilation that happens every culture white and holds space for Black and Indigenous people and people of color to retain the unique aspects of their heritage. Multiculturalism is valuable and desirable to be preserved. So instead of viewing America as a melting pot, let's think of ourselves as part of an ever-evolving green salad with beautiful ingredients from all over the world.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS TO FURTHER THE CONVERSATION ON ASSIMILATION:
 • Have you seen the process of assimilation in your own life? What did it look like?
 • Why do you think it is important to retain heritage/culture/identity?

Fearmongering
 Fearmongering is the act of deliberately arousing public fear or alarm about a particular issue. Fearmongers intentionally spread fear by exaggerating an impending danger in order to manipulate the public.

The media often perpetuates fearmongering through sensational headlines and may also do this in order to fit their agendas. Unfortunately, racial fearmongering has become a frequent tool used by Black and brown people and during historical times of unrest and fear. These fears are frequently ungrounded, but they are used to incite fear and distrust and to undermine public efforts when the feeling "unsafe" is a reason for fleeing or unlearning Black people.

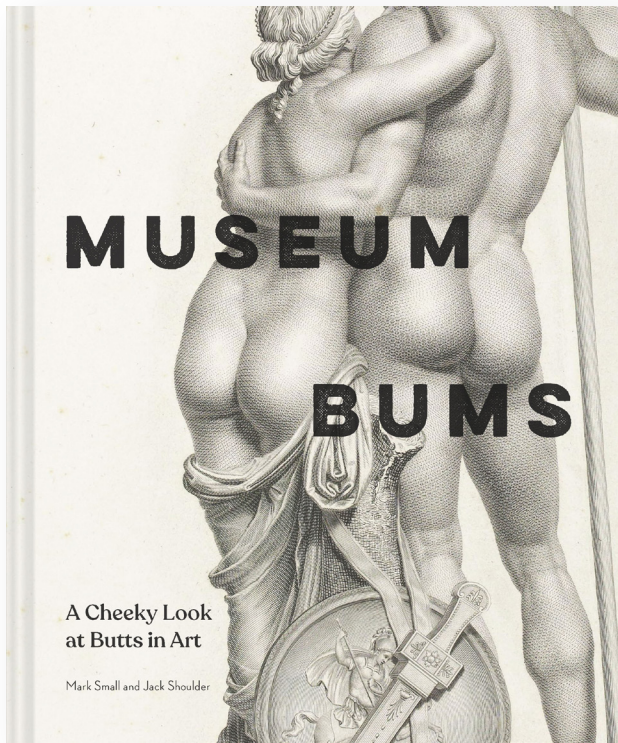

We need our ourselves what made them feel "unsafe." How has racial fearmongering affected the way in which Black and brown people are viewed in America?

The Unidentified Black Man
 Black men and boys are viewed in the United States, as evidenced by white people who would sitting next to a Black person on public transit or who cross the street to avoid being near a Black person. These are classic examples of how racial fearmongering has perpetuated the conviction and subconscious fear of Black people. This fear has been further spread and bolstered by the media. Films and television programs often feature characters who are intimidating because of their skin and strength. These roles have become associated with Black men, which in turn encourages people to fear Black strangers in real life who have nothing in common with these figures.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS TO FURTHER THE CONVERSATION ON FEARMONGERING:
 • How do you think fearmongering affects the way in which Black and brown people are viewed in America?

FUNGI COLLECTED IN SHROPSHIRE AND OTHER NEIGHBOURHOODS

A Victorian Woman's Illustrated Field Notes

By M. F. Lewis • Foreword by Patricia Ononiwu Kaishian, PhD

This one-of-a-kind, keepsake volume celebrates the timeless fascination of fungi. Very little is known about pioneering female mycologist M. F. Lewis—not even her first name. Mysterious, prolific, and deeply enamored with the world of mushrooms, she left us a treasure trove of mycological illustrations. For over 40 years, from 1860 to 1902, Lewis rambled across England and Wales, recording an astonishing biodiversity of fungi. Her delicately drawn, boldly colored images evoke the strange and powerful beauty of this kingdom. This handsome volume collects hundreds of Lewis's watercolors, contextualized by a foreword from mycologist Patricia Ononiwu Kaishian, PhD. It's a must-have for today's mushroom lovers who are curious about the history of mycology and for any admirer of vintage botanical illustration.

THE LEAGUE OF LADY POISONERS

Illustrated True Stories of Dangerous Women
By and illustrated by Lisa Perrin
Foreword by Holly Frey and Maria Trimarchi

This riveting and well-researched volume by Lisa Perrin weaves together the stories of more than 25 accused women poisoners, exploring the circumstances and skill sets that led them to lives of crime. You might find yourself rooting for some of them—like Sally Bassett, who helped poison her granddaughter’s enslavers in Bermuda. Other stories, though—including that of Yiya Murano, one of Argentina’s most notorious swindlers and serial killers—may prove less palatable. Organized into thematic chapters based on the women’s motives, the book also includes an illustrated primer that delves into the origins and effects of common poisons throughout history, as well as a foreword by Holly Frey and Maria Trimarchi, creators and hosts of the podcast Criminalia. The deluxe case design features glimmering metallic golds and greens, as well as gilded page edges. It is a treat for true crime fans and feminist history buffs.

FRY'S TIES

By Stephen Fry

Discover the story of a gentleman's most distinguished accessory, the necktie, with the inimitable Stephen Fry as your guide. In this utterly charming volume, Fry excavates his epic collection of neckties and shares the stories behind them. Interspersed amongst the collection are diagrams to aid in tying your own Half Windsor, Van Wijk, or Prince Albert Knot. The book expands on Fry's popular Instagram series, with additional, all-new content—including an essay about Fry's own necktie journey and a collection of snappy photos and illustrations of the ties themselves. "CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN.
NAKED PEOPLE HAVE LITTLE OR NO INFLUENCE ON SOCIETY."

Mark Twain

As a classic reading noveau, My Favorite of the Month, the tie on the bottom left, is from Zurich. The name "Grosvenor" on the heady label *P*erhaps the 90s origin—the glorious Lake Como mountains help to see here in the late 1990s, that an occasion here, Ludovic Horne, the Duke of Milan the moment of Shakespeare's Prospero, perhaps, dressed in a yellow vest should be placed to encourage the wearing of a badge, the silhouette, and the wearing of its glowing fibers.

These colors, Marco, I'd had returned from his search in China with lots of that magical water and hills of its production. The nearest city to Grosvenor, of course, Milan, which over the centuries, in part thanks to the silk from Como and Grosvenor, became a kind of essential 'high fashion' capital.

I think there is something very pleasing about the horizontal reading effect to the wear of this tie. There is a Zurich in Italy that makes the tie, so even the name avoids a different cloud with you, but they are unrelated.

SHITTY CRAFT CLUB

A Club for Gluing Beads to Trash, Talking about Our Feelings, and Making Silly Things

By Sam Reece • Photographs by Lizzie Darden

Shitty Craft Club is a uniquely empowering guide that allows people to accept their imperfections and find inner calm with whatever shitty thing they can make. Did you know that you are a glorious and incredible artist? Well, you are. Through silly and deeply relatable tales from her life, Sam Reece, founder of the Shitty Craft Club, guides you through dozens of craft projects that give you permission to be weird, wild, and wonderful. Melding nihilistic humor with Amy Sedaris's gonzo crafting style, the Shitty Craft Club proves there's no limit to what a craft can be. Making a bunch of pom-poms so you can be your own cheerleader? That's a craft. Sculpting a rhinestone shrimp out of aluminum foil and a glue gun? A craft. Why not spend a bit of time gluing some trash to more trash if it makes you happy? This is your sign to embrace anti-perfectionism.

SAM REECE is a New York City–based comedy writer and actor with a very serious crafting hobby.

LIZZIE DARDEN is a creative director, photographer, and stylist.

JUST THE TIP!

Turn your phone off during sex. Leaving it on may protect a precious shock with you. Checked your phone during sex, which requires more attention and thought than you want to expend, and could lead to a very enraging fight. Although, it doesn't work to leave your phone on that night work too because your phone might call you, which could put an end to the sex.

The Lampshade

Put a lampshade over your head (could be kinky maybe?) so your partner can't see that your eyes are closed and that you are perhaps approaching sleep.

JUST THE TIP!

A ring bow works too if you're short on lampshades. You're way too lazy to take to you may as well get some use out of it.

The Sex Dream

The latest sex of all—the kind you have while you're asleep.

GUCCI MEETS GAP

I have walked into a store and getting that feeling in my bones that I'm going to find some-thing great. An unusual piece or one that I fall in love with. The piece that makes me think you are really pushing me to the edge of my brain, London or Paris, and that's very hard. But I just want to know that that's the piece in the store that makes me want to buy it. I'm going to buy it.

It's hard to have with all "Gucci" items that I can't for experience I will automatically be worried of the cost. Instead, I'm going to want to see what the item is, and what it would look like. I never want to see that tag. I want to enjoy every piece—of course I would have to be comfortable.

I do it my "Gucci meets Gap" approach.

Can we explain?

We bring in a lot of things that have been distributed, played, had parties, shared our things, and then we have to look at it.

I feel that that was happening in the house. I never showed for them to enjoy. I talked to all the things that were.

IS THIS LOVE?

Based on the song by Bob Marley
Adapted by Cedella Marley
Illustrated by Alea Marley

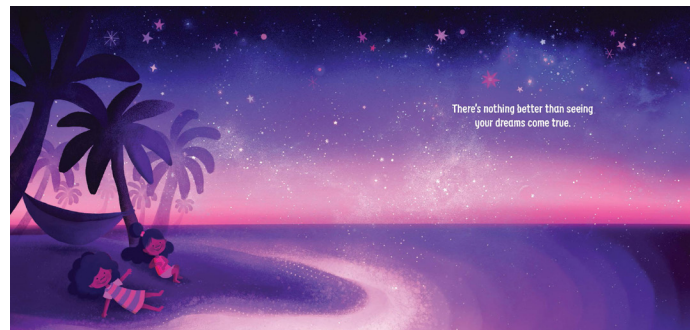

Relive the magic of Bob Marley's most beloved songs in this newest picture book adaptation! Is this love? Is this love that I'm feeling? Bob Marley's music has captured the hearts and souls of families around the world. This sweet adaptation of one of his best-loved songs is a heartwarming tale of an older child's love for a younger sibling. From the moment she sees her baby sister, big sister knows just what she's going to do: love her and treat her right, every day and every night. Playing together, watching over her, standing by her through thick and thin . . . big sister does it all because, yes, this is love that she's feeling. Adapted by Cedella Marley, Bob Marley's eldest child, and exuberantly illustrated by Alea Marley, Is This Love? is a joyful ode to the unshakeable love shared by all those who call one another family.

THE BOO-BOOS OF BLUEBELL ELEMENTARY

By Chelsea Lin Wallace • Illustrated by Alison Farrell

A rollicking read-aloud featuring a wide cast of characters coming to the school nurse for help with their colorful complaints! Kids at Bluebell don't feel well—splinters, lice, a paper cut, throw-up, bumps, a hungry gut. Charlee's tooth won't wiggle free! But there's someone to go to—Miss Peatree! The big feelings and minor dilemmas of elementary school are no match for this hilarious, delightful parade of kids and the untiring compassion of Miss Peatree. One after another, students pile into her office to get fixed up—whether they need a Band-Aid for a bumped knee or a solution for a touch of homesickness. With irresistible, rollicking rhyme and endlessly lively art, Chelsea Lin Wallace and Alison Farrell showcase the humor of elementary school's many little problems and the gentle good sense that puts everything right.

By Michelle Markel • Illustrated by Barbara McClintock

From acclaimed picture book creators Michelle Markel and Barbara McClintock comes a lively, humorous, and energetically informative biography that celebrates the spirit of storytelling in art. Quick! If you don't move fast, you'll miss him—there he goes—Randolph Caldecott, future famous illustrator. His sketchbook is full of hurly-burly: wild weather, frisky animals, and people so sprightly they can barely hold onto the pages. But in the 1850s, there are no children's books like that. Not yet. Many books are published, but their pictures look stiff, full of pretty poses and cluttered scenery. No one has imagined how much fun an illustrated book could be, because the future hero of children's book illustration is still just a lad. Join in for a riotous adventure through the seminal history of children's books—their art, their joy, and the man who changed them for good.

MICHELLE MARKEL writes informative, enjoyable, award-winning children's books at her home in Los Angeles, California.
BARBARA MCCLINTOCK has written and/or illustrated over 40 books for children. ## WHAT DO BROTHAS DO ALL DAY?

By Ajuan Mance

Inspired by Richard Scarry's What Do People Do All Day?, these joyous portraits of Black men engaged in everyday life celebrate the deep roots and rich cultures of African American communities. Author-illustrator Ajuan Mance created What Do Brothas Do All Day? in response to children's innate curiosity about the activities and experiences of others, but also to meet the longing many kids have for characters and communities that look and feel like the people and places they know. This is a gift for Black kids who rarely see themselves reflected in the pages of a book and an affirmation of their world and the people who populate it. From grocery shopping and waiting for a trim at the barbershop to singing, dancing, and laughing with friends, Mance captures the beauty in the ordinary, affirming the enduring strength of the Black community.

I WANT 100 DOGS

By Stacy McAnulty • Illustrated by Claire Keane

In this funny, feel-good first-pet book, one aspiring dog owner and her parents ponder—in wildly imaginative and hilarious detail—all the best and worst outcomes of bringing home more dogs than you can (literally) shake a stick at. A young girl proclaims, “I want 100 dogs.” In a twist, her parents agree, but they have just one question: Where will 100 dogs sleep? Our protagonist revises her request to 90 dogs. But how does one walk 90 dogs? A silly, subtractive counting tale and an over-the-top ode to the joys (and woes) of canine company, this sweet and surprising story proves that no matter how boundless your enthusiasm, when it comes to finding the perfect pet, sometimes less really is more. Written by bestselling author Stacy McAnulty and illustrated with vintage flair by Claire Keane, this clever and funny picture book will be a new favorite for readers and pet lovers everywhere—whether you have no dogs, one dog, or one dog too many!

GRIEF IS AN ELEPHANT

By Tamara Ellis Smith

Illustrated by Nancy Whitesides

An imaginative and heartfelt book that reminds us that there is no loss without love. When Grief first arrives, it is like an elephant—so big that there is hardly room for anything else. But over time, Grief can become smaller and smaller—first a deer, then a fox, a mouse, and finally a flickering firefly in the darkness leading us down a path of loving remembrance. This lyrical work is an empathetic and comforting balm for anyone who is experiencing grief, be it grieving the loss of a loved one or losses in the world around us.

NOTHING EVER HAPPENS ON A GRAY DAY

By Grant Snider

With fantastic bursts of color and lyricism, Grant Snider explores the extraordinary within the ordinary in this ode to seemingly boring days and the wonders that emerge for anyone open to seeing them. The sky is gloomy, but perhaps all that's required for adventure is a bit of curiosity and patience. After all, an everyday stroll can become an adventure in the blink of an eye. On a day when even the rain is too bored to fall, ride alongside a girl on her rickety bicycle through the familiar scenes of her neighborhood as she rediscovers the colors—a splash of yellow, a flash of red, a flutter of blue—that can be found even when all seems monochrome. In this artful picture book that celebrates do-nothing days and solitary adventures, readers learn how embracing quiet stillness with openness and curiosity can make space for unexpected encounters, meaningful detours, and some of life's most unforgettable moments.

THE STORY OF GUMLUCK THE WIZARD

Book One

By Adam Rex

Meet Gumluck the Wizard, the star of a new chapter book series by the inimitable Adam Rex! This is a story about magic, if you like that kind of thing. It is also a story about a ghost with amnesia, an unpopular fairy, an ungrateful little town, and an extremely wise and helpful raven (who happens to be a pretty talented storyteller). But mostly, it is about a friendly little wizard who lives inside a big hill and really, really, really wants to be a hero. His name is Gumluck, and he is a bumbling noodlehead. In this tall tale about a short wizard, celebrated author Adam Rex proves once and for all that the biggest heroes often come in the smallest nightgowns.

Gumluck's Guests

Let me tell you how I met the wizard
Gumluck.
It was Monday.

"It is Monday!" he said, in his little brass bed, in the hill that he used for a house.
On Mondays Gumluck had visitors.

He changed out of his nightgown and into his daygown.

"So much to do!"
(Look at him,
hopping around,
ridiculous. What a buggy-bumper.)

He used magic
to sweep the floors.
He made magic to polish the candelabra.

That's when he saw that his upstairs pumpkin was downstairs, and his downstairs pumpkin was upstairs.

If you are not a wizard, you probably don't have upstairs pumpkins and downstairs pumpkins. Or maybe you do, but you don't mind mixing them up.
I think that is very smart of you.

"Such a mess," Gumluck sighed. "And everything must be just right for my guests."

So he pushed his pumpkins into place and walked outside to have a look at his house. A raven was in the yard, hunting for sticks and straw.

That's me. I am the raven. Maybe you didn't know you were reading a story told by a raven. If you do not like it, you can leave.

PRAISE FOR SHIRA & ESTHER'S DOUBLE DREAM DEBUT:

“Anna E. Jordan’s debut novel has everything: a storybook setting, a classic setup, and not one but two heroines on a daring and dramatic dual mission to achieve their dreams. The charming cast of supporting characters are the cherries on the top (or, more accurately, pickles on the side) of a dish that will leave readers very satisfied.”

—Erica S. Perl, National Jewish Book Award-winning author of All Three Stooges

Would Shira shine in a big-time televised talent show? Would Esther finally get to have the bat mitzvah she’s always wanted? What’s a little deception, when it means your dreams might finally be within reach?

One thing is certain: Shira and Esther are going to need more than a little chutzpah to pull this off. But if they do, their double dream debut is sure to be the performance of a lifetime.

ANNA E. JORDAN is an author, poet, bookseller, and educator who lives in the Washington, DC, area. This is her first novel for young readers.

FREE THROWS, FRIENDSHIP, AND OTHER THINGS WE FOULED UP

By Jenn Bishop

Competitive basketball takes center court in this fast-paced novel about two girls finding the truth about themselves—and their families. Rory’s life revolves around basketball. Her dad just secured a new coaching gig at the University of Cincinnati, so it means yet another school and move for her, only this time to her dad’s hometown. Abby has always lived in Cincinnati, where her dad grew up playing ball and now coaches at Xavier University. But Abby has recently retreated from basketball with her confidence in shambles. Now she finds herself on the outside looking in and could seriously use a new friend. The coaches’ daughters connect over their shared love of basketball, but Abby’s dad practically forbids their friendship because of something that happened between him and Rory’s dad when they were younger. Can the two girls get to the bottom of what happened between their dads before history repeats itself?

PRAISE FOR FREE THROWS, FRIENDSHIP, AND OTHER THINGS WE FOULED UP:

“Basketball-loving readers will adore this book, but it’s so much more than a basketball story. A beautifully crafted tale of friendship, family, and forgiveness, with characters so vivid and real you can’t help but root for them, on and off the court.”

—Matt Tavares, New York Times-bestselling author-illustrator of Hoops

“Two households, both alike in ~~dignity~~ their basketball obsessions
In fair ~~Verona~~ Cincinnati, Ohio, where we lay our scene
From ancient grudge break to new mutiny
Where civil blood makes civil hands unclean.
From forth the fatal loins (LOINS! LOL) of these two foes
A pair of star-cross’d ~~lovers~~ friends ~~take their life~~ (I swear nobody dies in this book)
Whose misadventured piteous overthrows
Do with their ~~death~~ friendship bury their parents’ strife.”

—William Shakespeare*

BEN Y AND THE GHOST IN THE MACHINE

The Kids Under the Stairs • By K. A. Holt

The second book in the Kids Under the Stairs series is now available in paperback! A heartwarming, laugh-out-loud novel-in-verse that tells an authentic story about friendship, family, and personal identity. Ben Y's just about had it with school. Even her best buds—Ben B, Jordan J, and Javier, the kids under the stairs—all seem far too content following the rules. And home's no better. Last year, Ben Y's older brother died, and the family is still very much learning how to cope—if by coping you mean coming home to cry at lunch or obsessively visiting a chat-room to talk to Benicio's ghost. But when Benicio suddenly starts typing back, Ben Y must act—fast. What happens when buried family feelings are exposed and Ben Y's own deepest secrets become impossible to hide? With a lovable cast of characters and full of raw emotion, this dynamic novel shows how every kid deserves to become their own “divergent” self.

PRAISE FOR BEN Y AND THE GHOST IN THE MACHINE:

“Holt’s sequel digs into Ben Y’s journey grappling with grief and identity. The novel hits the important points of understanding and verbalizing what one is feeling. . . . An excellent addition to the Kids Under the Stairs series and one that kids and adults alike will supremely enjoy.”

—School Library Journal, starred review

“An emotionally charged, dynamic novel in verse. This focused character study delivers layered attention to grief and self-exploration. Multiple formats, including chat messages in the Minecraft-like Sandbox, combined with extraordinary pacing make this a win for reluctant readers, while the humor and emotional reach will draw in anyone interested in middle-grade emotional realism. With minimal physical descriptions, names cue ethnic diversity. Accomplished, lively, and heartfelt.”

—Kirkus Reviews

REALISTIC FAIRY TALE

What first attracted you to each other? What made you fall in love initially?

Traditional love stories, many of which have been inspired since childhood, promise the belief that having love simply means that finding the right person makes this happen to you in effect. They perpetuate the idea that love just happens to you, that it's easy and uncomplicated. But that's not how things work in the real world.

Inspired by your own relationship story and observations, create a realistic, realistic fairy tale that outlines the ways that you've built the bond of your relationship. Love takes work—does finding it keeping it alive.

Conversation

TURN ME ON

What turns you on about your partner? Is what content (time, place) do you feel turned?

Turn-ons might include specific characteristics about your partner, being desired, feeling wanted, feeling loved, and, interestingly enough, specific smells (such as perfume or scents), being touched in a certain way, and being in a setting you associate with positive sexual experiences (such as being in a bathtub).

On the other hand, common turn-ons can include stress and fatigue, common body language, performance anxiety, characteristics about the relationship (such as lack of trust and emotional connection), and being rejected by your partner.

People are different to stimulation, and not knowing that your partner is reacting can lead to confusion and disappointment. When we don't know about our partner's sensitivities, we can wrongly assume that we don't know them, when in fact it might be something completely unrelated. Discuss your turn-ons and how to build on them.

Conversation

SHARE YOUR DREAMS

Everyone has a dream as a life purpose, and being in a relationship should not mean sacrificing that dream. Take a moment to reflect individually. What do you still want to accomplish? Your dream might be to experience growth, to go on a solo trip, to undertake a spiritual journey, to fight for justice, to rescue a bear, to finish creating important, to build something lasting to make a mark, to experience every thrill, nature, or to become all that you can be.

Discuss your dream with your partner, and tell the story surrounding this dream. When does it come back? What's the symbolism behind it? Do you fear not having this dream fulfilled?

Discuss how you can better not make each other's dream possible.

GAMES

CHRONICLE BOOKS

AIM OF GAME

In this easy-to-learn card game, your aim is to create as many three-in-a-row matches as possible to collect Roarsome points. The person who last saw a dinosaur (whether a fossil, cartoon, or walking down the street) goes first. Players take turns drawing cards and playing them onto the shared grid to create columns or rows of three matching cards. Every time there is a match, the double-sided cards get flipped over to create new chances. Oh, and watch out for the dino poop! The first player to collect 10 Roarsome points wins!

WHO IT'S FOR

Perfect for friends, families, and dinosaur fans!

WHAT'S INSIDE

60 double-sided Game cards and EFIGS instructions in a dinosaur egg-shaped case. The case is made using biodegradable cornstarch. Content printed using FSC paper and soy inks.

AIM OF GAME

In this fast-paced card game, you are competing to be the first player to bake three perfect cakes to win. Each baker starts by drawing four cake slice cards face-up to create their baking area. When everyone's ready shout "3-2-1, PASS THE CAKE" to begin a frosting frenzy! All bakers draw a card from their pile at the same time and decide whether to keep it to begin baking that cake or pass it on. Collect four slices of the same type to complete a cake, then you move it to your cooling rack and get started on the next cake immediately. But watch out for your fellow bakers as they'll try to sabotage you! The icing on the cake? If a baker completes an entire cake using four Confetti Cake cards, they claim a sweet instant victory!

AIM OF GAME

Grab your friends (this game is definitely NSFW!) and compete FTW by creating the wildest and wittiest acronyms, abbreviations, and initialisms. Reveal the Topic—it could be a familiar situation, wacky concept, or heartfelt (or not!) emotion—and draw the number of Letter cards shown. TW: Players might reveal TMI as they fill in the blanks. The tricky bit? You have to use all the letters to make your Wacronym, but the good news is you choose the order. Everyone writes a Wacronym on the answer pad and gives it to the judge. Only the judge can decide who played a GG, but 100 the more people LOL at your answer, the more likely you are to win. Just when you think you're getting the hang of it, out comes a Special Round card to mix up the rules! And you can use the blank cards to CYO, too. The first player to win five rounds is crowned the champion!

WHO IT'S FOR

Perfect for parties with friends, Wacronyms is suitable for adults only.
