Marina Abramović

A Visual Biography

Marina Abramović, Katya Tylevich

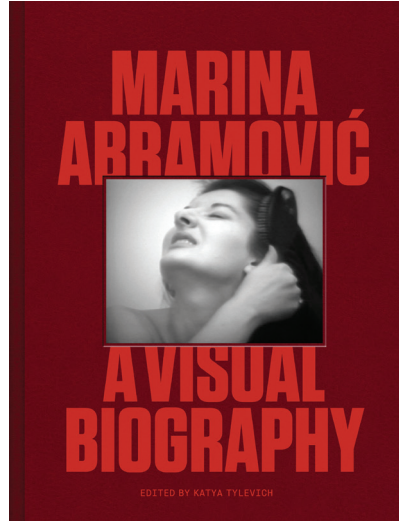

- The definitive guide to the life and work of Marina Abramović, the world's most famous performance artist

Combining brand-new interviews, never-before-seen images and fascinating ephemera from her personal archives, this book creates a visual landscape of Marina Abramović's personal and artistic life. Illustrated with more than 700 photographs, Abramović provides insight on her most important works and some of her most difficult personal experiences, conveying the story with her signature emotion and wit. Fittingly blurring the lines between artist and art, this book acts as a keystone in the life of one of the most important performance artists in the world.

MARINA ABRAMOVIĆ Since the beginning of her career in Belgrade during the early 1970s, Marina Abramović has pioneered performance art, creating some of the form's most important early works. Exploring her physical and mental limits, she has withstood pain, exhaustion, and danger in her quest for emotional and spiritual transformation.

Abramović was awarded the Golden Lion for Best Artist at the 1997 Venice Biennale. In 2010, Abramović had her first major U.S. retrospective and simultaneously performed for over 700 hours in "The Artist is Present" at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. Abramović founded Marina Abramović Institute (MAI), a platform for immaterial and long durational work to create new possibilities for collaboration among thinkers of all fields.

In 2023 she will present the solo exhibition After Life at the Royal Academy, and become the first female artist in the institution's 250 year history to occupy the entire gallery space with her work.

KATYA TYLEVICH is an arts and fiction writer. She is author of Gus Van Sant: The Art of Making Movies, Art Oracles, Success Oracles, many book and monograph contributions, essays and interviews, and co-author of My Life as a Work of Art.

When did you want to become an artist?
 I never wanted to become an artist. I was an artist. I always felt it. I was Jeanne Mozart started at seven. I wouldn't get my chance until I was older.

YOU KNOW MY FIRST WORD WAS EL GRECO?

I know you will say I was looking at René Magritte. But I was also trying to do something conceptual. I painted the same model for years and only from the back. Her back was huge, and I regarded it as a landscape: mountains, rivers, grass fields. I went deep into the flesh. On our last day working together, I asked my model to turn around for me. It's funny, there is so much more information in the body. For me, her face was totally empty.

Around the World in 80 Plants

Jonathan Drori and Lucille Clerc

- An inspirational and beautifully illustrated book that tells the stories of 80 plants from around the globe.

In his follow-up to the bestselling Around the World in 80 Trees, Jonathan Drori takes another trip across the globe, bringing to life the science of plants by revealing how their worlds are intricately entwined with our own history, culture and folklore. From the seemingly familiar tomato and dandelion to the eerie mandrake and Spanish 'moss' of Louisiana, each of these stories is full of surprises. Some have a troubling past, while others have ignited human creativity or enabled whole civilizations to flourish. With a colourful cast of characters all brought to life by illustrator Lucille Clerc, this is a botanical journey of beauty and brilliance.

'A beautiful celebration of the plants and flowers that surround us and a quiet call to arms for change' The Herald

LUCILLE CLERC (Illustrator)

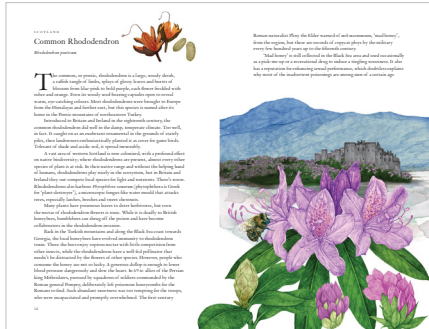

Lucille Clerc is a French graphic designer who moved to London following completion of her degree in Paris to study for an MA in Communication Design at Central Saint Martins.

Neo-Victoriana

BOOK REVIEWER GUSTAVO BORRERO GONZALEZ

We cannot understand Neo-Victorianism without understanding the Victorian aesthetic itself. Hannah takes the time to explain the Victorians (1837-1901), the period between 1837 to 1901 in the United Kingdom, and the various movements of the Victorian era, including the various reforming movements that had taken hold in the Victorian era, such as the temperance movement and the women's suffrage movement. Many of the movements were aimed at improving the lives of the poor and the marginalized. The most interesting part of the book is the chapter on the fashion of the Victorian era, which is a blend of historical fashion and modern fashion. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of fashion and the Victorian era.

The Visual Arts: A History

Revised 7th Edition

John Fleming and Hugh Honour

- The definitive single-volume history of world art
- Superbly written text covering art from pre-history up to the 21st century
- Comprehensive program of 1,459 illustrations, 714 in color

Since its first publication this book has been hailed as the most comprehensive history of art ever published in a single volume. Presenting art history as an essential part of the development of humankind, it offers and authoritative, balanced, and enlightened account, ranging from a statuette carved in central Europe some 30,000 years ago to digital, video, and installation art for the new millennium. The volume covers painting, mosaic, drawing, printmaking, sculpture, architecture, and photography. Textiles, coins, pottery, enamels, gold, and silver are also included. The scope is international, encompassing arts of Asia, Africa, and Oceania as well as Europe and the Americas.

This Revised Seventh Edition expands the original coverage by embracing new developments in archaeology and art historical research, and in particular contemporary art history Michael Archer has greatly expanded the authors' discussion of the art world over into the 21st century, providing a new perspective on the latest developments shaping our cultural history.

This insight, elegance, and fluency that the authors bring to their text are complemented by 1459 superb illustrations, many of which are now in color.

JOHN FLEMING founded and edited with Hugh Honour the Pelican Style and Civilisation series. He died in 2001.

HUGH HONOUR was one of the leading art historians of the 20th century. He was co-author with Nikolaus Pevsner and John Fleming of The Penguin Dictionary of Architecture. He died in 2016.

Fashion Writing

Journalism and Content Creation

Josephine Collins and Stephen Spear

- Aimed at students on specialist fashion journalism courses or general/lifestyle journalism degrees
- This guide will also appeal to untrained writers, including content creators, who want to add a professional approach to their fashion writing

Fashion now enjoys its highest-ever profile as the digital world has multiplied the number of platforms on which it is available. While bloggers monetise their musings - indeed, create successful and influential fashion media and fashion product businesses - traditional magazines and newspapers have expanded their multi-channel fashion content in order to secure more touch points with consumers and drive revenue from fashion advertising.

JOSEPHINE COLLINS is the course leader for BA (Hons) Fashion Journalism and Content Creation and senior lecturer in print and online journalism. STEPHEN SPEAR is a lecturer at London College of Fashion and an experienced journalist.

Q&A
Amanda Randone
Fashion Journalist and Content Creator

Q: What is the role of fashion journalism today?
A: I would describe my role as a fashion journalist as being that of a storyteller and a researcher. I'm not just reporting on the latest trends and styles, but I'm also looking for the stories behind the scenes. This means that I'm often spending a lot of time in the fashion industry, talking to designers, models, and other industry professionals. I'm also looking for the stories that are often overlooked, such as the impact of fashion on the environment and the role of fashion in social justice.

Q: How do you manage to write fashion journalism that is both a quality piece of journalism and a quality piece of content creation?
A: The key is to be a hybrid journalist/writer/content creator. It's all about finding the right balance between the two. I'm a journalist, so I have to write in a clear, concise, and factual way. But I'm also a content creator, so I have to write in a way that is engaging and entertaining. I'm also a writer, so I have to be able to tell a story and create a narrative. I'm also a researcher, so I have to be able to find the information I need to write about. I'm also a social media savvy, so I have to be able to promote my work on social media. I'm also a networker, so I have to be able to build relationships with other people in the industry. I'm also a multitasker, so I have to be able to do all of these things at the same time.

Carbon City Zero

Can you work together for a carbon-neutral future?

Possible, illustrated by Rami Niemi

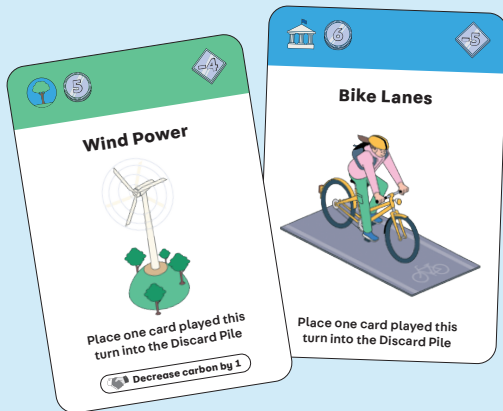

- It's time to stop competing and work together to create carbon zero cities: we're in this together so in this game either everyone wins, or everyone loses
- Learn about climate action as you play this new board game for all the family

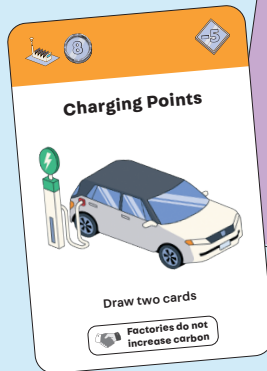

Carbon City Zero is a collaborative climate action game in which players develop a sustainable city by greening transport, transforming industries, getting citizens on board and showing world leaders how it's done. Each player starts with an identical deck, buying additional cards from a shared marketplace to create a more sustainable city. You'll need to bring together governments, industries and the public. And if you can't bring carbon levels to zero before it's too late, everybody loses. The stakes couldn't be higher.

POSSIBLE is a climate-action organisation. From their founding challenge to cut carbon by 10% by 2010, to their world-leading Solar Schools campaign, or more recent work on solar-powered railways, everything they do is about inspiring more people to take more action on climate change.

The game you know and love has reached new heights! In Mountain Backgammon, the gameplay is exactly the same as classic backgammon, but each of the 24 points on the board has been replaced with an awe-inspiring peak. Spot skiers on Whistler, free climbers on El Capitan and even the yeti of Kangchenjunga as you try to get your counters home first. The race around the world is on!

The Infinite Maze

A new maze every time!

Aleksandra Artymowska

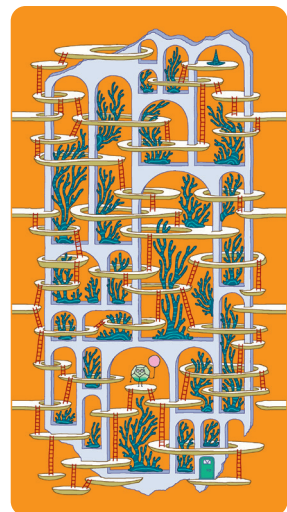

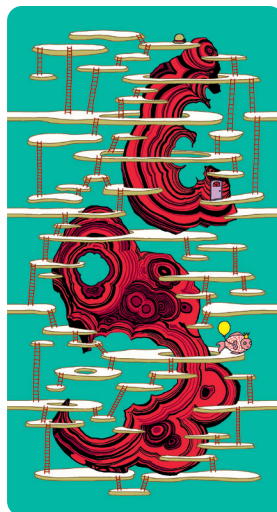

- The 20 maze cards can be put together in any order, but there is only ever one correct solution!
- Use the cards to tell stories, compete against one another to race through the maze, or work together to get your character home through the maze

Each card in the infinite maze is its own unique world: find the characters who have got lost from each world, and help them journey their way through the maze back home! Climb ladders, avoid obstacles and pick up items on your way as you race to complete the infinite maze: there are endless ways to play, but there is only ever one correct solution.

ALEKSANDRA ARTYMOVSKA is an illustrator, graphic designer, and painter from Poland. She is an expert in mazes, and is the author of Amazed and Find My Rocket.

SEPTEMBER 2023

You're home alone with an entirely free day ahead of you.

Do you...

A Spend the day re-organizing your cupboards and doing the chores you don't usually have time for

B Do a bit of tidying and organizing but spend the rest of the day relaxing

C Sit back and relax – there's nothing better than a whole day to yourself to chill out

Imagine yourself as a child at school.

Your end-of-year biology exam is coming up next week and your friend has somehow got all the answers. They offer to share them with you.

Do you...

A Refuse – you don't like to break the rules

B Only accept if you really feel you might fail the exam

C Take them up on the offer – if they know the answers, you might as well too

CREATIVE
Chase delight

Delight is a muscle we can flex through writing, and as research in positive neuroaesthetics tells us, we can train ourselves out of the negativity bias we are all predisposed to by looking for goodness and making a habit of it.

✦ Journal about some sensory pleasures that have delighted you over the past month.

This could be anything from the way the dew hung in a tree, or someone's face when they laughed, to the unbridled power of the ocean during a storm, or a good song you heard on the radio. Describe these pleasures in detail, writing down the impressions from all your senses.

CREATIVE
Write as another species

Every living being on the planet is interconnected, but we humans often forget this, failing to feel empathy for other species or to understand what we can learn from them. This explains the current state of the world.

✦ Write from the perspective of another species - perhaps a dog, fish, tree or bee - in the present tense, in their voice.

You could write about how 'you', dog or weak as a dog or tree has been, what you have seen, what has brought you joy or pain, what you're angry or excited about - whatever arises. Remember to keep writing without stopping, continuing even if you want to change something, so you don't move out of the writer's mindset and into that of a reader or editor.

The Emotional First Aid Kit

45 cards for self-care

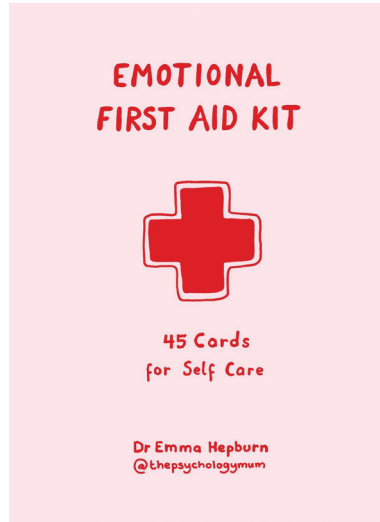

Dr Emma Hepburn

- A portable and practical way to bring mental self-care into your daily routine

This box may not contain band aids or antiseptic wipes but it is ready to deliver some urgent care to your brain.

Just like the first aid kit in your glove box or bathroom cabinet, the Emotional First Aid Kit is full of practical tools for looking after yourself and the people you love. Each card focuses on a different topic of mental and emotional wellbeing; with an illustration to help visualize how your brain works, and a practical exercise to restore balance and self-compassion.

Either read them at random, using the cards to pay attention to your inner thoughts and feelings, or focus on specific cards that you identify with - no matter your approach these cards will allow you to better understand how your mind works, and help you develop positive coping strategies.
