What Does It Mean to Be Green?

by Rana DiOrio, illustrated by Addy Rivera Sonda

Part of the award-winning series, What Does It Mean to Be Green? explores how children can help protect the Earth's precious resources. This new edition has all new artwork and features updated facts and backmatter!

A young boy and girl explore all the different ways they can be green over the course of a day. Drawing on two sides of your paper instead of just one. Walking to the park instead of getting a ride. Turning off the water while you brush your teeth. They discover lots of amazing facts (like how our food travels an average of 1,500 miles to be on our plate!) and realize there's so much they - and we - can do to help save our world!

"Rana DiOrio's whimsical book teaches kids What Does It Mean To Be Green (Hint: It doesn't mean 'looking like a frog, or a pickle, or an alien.') Kids will have fun learning to see how their everyday life makes a difference." - Parenting Magazine

"A great book! Great for kids, great for families, and great for this planet we call home. It empowers kids and lets them know that they are part of a greater movement toward love of ourselves, each other, and the planet." - Lisa Renstrom, Past President, Sierra Club

"Does a great job inspiring healthy, sustainable habits that kids can take with them through life to build a more sustainable world." - Damon Nagami, Senior Attorney, Natural Resources Defense Council

"As this book makes clear, you are never too young to love the planet Earth and all she provides. Doing these little things (...)

Author Bio

Rana DiOrio is an intrepid force for empowerment and positive change. Her purpose is to help people maximize their potential, and she continues to expound and expand upon that mission across her diverse and highly successful career.

As a corporate and securities attorney, tech-sector investment banker, investor, and advisory board member, Rana has catalyzed the financial, operational, and cultural growth of organizations for almost three decades. As an award-winning author and children's media entrepreneur, she has sparked meaningful conversations between children and their caring adults and is focused on fostering kindness in the next generation by helping creatives who make this possible realize the full potential of their work through her company,

My First 100 Bug Words

by Chris Ferrie, illustrated by Lindsay Dale-Scott

Add to your little genius' knowledge with the essential first words related to all things bugs!

From the #1 bestselling science author for kids comes a simple and colorful introduction to the first 100 bug words every baby should know. Each spread in this primer focuses on 8 to 12 words related to bugs - from caterpillar to cocoon, dung beetle to pillbug, and more!

Chris Ferrie's latest offering is the perfect way to introduce basic concepts to even the youngest bug enthusiast. After all, it's never too early to become a bug buff!

Author Bio

Chris Ferrie is an award-winning physicist and Senior Lecturer for Quantum Software and Information at the University of Technology Sydney. He has a Masters in Applied Mathematics, BMath in Mathematical Physics and a PhD in Applied Mathematics. He lives in Australia with his wife and children.

Born in Columbus in 1991, Lindsay Dale-Scott made her mark on the illustration industry after encouragement from both parents to pursue a creative career. While studying graphic design and illustration at Columbus College of Art and Design, she earned an award for her advertising campaign for the sloth sanctuary (she loves sloths!) of Costa Rica. She gained local, regional, and national recognition with the American Advertising Awards, "The Addy?s." Lindsay describes her work as whimsical with a soft, sophisticated touch, drawing inspiration from classic Disney artist Mary Blair. Vintage posters, folk and fairy tales, and things that are a bit quirky also inspire her. She currently resides in Cleveland with her husband, two bunnies Sam and Pepper, a teddy bear named Toby, and a long-haired Dachshund named Violet. She enjoys living outside the city but is always keen to make trips into the city and other towns for inspiration.

Except Antarctica

by Todd Sturgell

Featuring a rogue group of cheeky animals who love nothing more than a challenge and a flustered, helpless narrator, this is an hilariously meta picture book about animal habitats on every continent

Turtles are found on every continent EXCEPT Antarctica. But not for long!

When a David Attenborough-esque narrator explains that turtles are found everywhere except Antarctica, one determined turtle sets out to prove him wrong. After recruiting other non-Antarctic animals along the way - much to the narrator's dismay - the turtle and his adventurous friends travel through fields, forests, and cross an entire ocean to reach their goal. But what exactly do they do once they get there?

Perfect for anyone who's ever gone a little too far to prove a point, this nature-documentary-gone-wrong is a gleefully funny lesson in determination and the beauty of having a contingency plan.

Author Bio

TODD STURGELL is an illustrator, author, and freelance art & creative director. In his previous career as a corporate advertising art director, he worked with national brands including The Home Depot, Hyundai, Red Lobster, and 7-11. He lives, hikes, draws, and watches nature documentaries in the North Carolina Mountains with his wife, daughters, and dog Max (named for a certain famous picture book character). He has not yet been to Antarctica.

Too Many Bubbles

by Christine Peck and Mags DeRoma

Help children master the skill of mindfulness in this new series focused on social-emotional growth!

Izzy the Mouse wakes up one day with a grumpy thought bubble hanging over her head. But instead of going away on its own, it multiplies. Soon, the thought bubbles are getting in the way of every part of Izzy's life.

Something has to be done, though Izzy doesn't know what. When she sees a bear blowing bubbles and realizes that a deep breath helps them float away, she tries a deep breathing exercise - and it helps her get rid of her grumpy thoughts for good.

The first in the brand new Books of Great Character picture book series geared for social-emotional growth, Too Many Bubbles is about what it feels like to have a negative thought you just can't shake and the steps you can take to let it go.

Author Bio

MAGS DEROMA and CHRISTINE PECK are the founders of the boutique kids brand Silly Street, whose mission is to help children grow character through play—and they're also sisters-in-law. Mags is located in Los Angeles and Christine is based in Austin, TX.

How to Catch a Gingerbread Man

by Adam Wallace, illustrated by Andy Elkerton

From the New York Times and USA Today bestselling team comes a new, fun and fantastical adventure in the How to Catch series! Filled with zany STEAM traps and classic story favorites, this is the gingerbread man book of the year! Try to catch one of the world's most classic fairy tale characters-the Gingerbread Man! In a bookstore during story time, the Gingerbread Man leaps from his storybook and magically comes to life. Can YOU help catch it? Follow along as the Gingerbread Man runs loose with the help of other famous characters including Robin Hood, Sherlock Holmes, Peter Rabbit, and more! In this gingerbread book for kids, if you set the right traps, and solve all the puzzles, you might. . . just might be able to catch this wily gingerbread cookie and finish the fairy tale!

When the storyteller starts to read,

Run, run, as fast as you can,"

I'm off in a start, and you'll have to be smart

To catch me, the Gingerbread Man!

<dl>Also in the How to Catch Series:

- How to Catch a Unicorn

Curse of the Forgotten City

by Alex Aster

A fantastic sequel to Curse of the Night Witch filled with adventure on the high seas, terrifying creates, and an unforgettable journey

Tor is adjusting to life with the Night Witch's powers, with his best friends Engle and Melda by his side. But when a mysterious girl named Vesper washes ashore claiming a band of cursed pirates is on their way to Emblem Island, life changes fast.

Vesper is from an underwater city that was destroyed by the terrible Calavera pirates and she warns Tor that his village is next. To stop the pirates, Tor, Engle, and Melda join Vesper on the hunt for the famed Pirate's Pearl, an ancient relic that would give them complete control of the high seas.

But the journey is perilous, filled with legendary sea creatures that are determined to see them fail. To save his village and everyone he loves, Tor must accept his new abilities - and use them - in the race to find the pearl.

Curse of the Night Witch

by Alex Aster

A fast-paced, #ownvoices series starter steeped in Colombian mythology and full of adventure, perfect for fans of Aru Shah and the End of Time. Now in paperback!

On Emblem Island, all are born knowing their fate. Their lifelines show the course of their life and an emblem dictates how they will spend it.

Twelve-year-old Tor Luna was born with a leadership emblem, just like his mother. But he hates his mark and is determined to choose a different path for himself. So, on the annual New Year's Eve celebration, Tor wishes for a different power.

The next morning Tor wakes up to discover a mark symbolizing a curse is imprinted on his arm and his hand's lifeline is cut short. There is only one way to break the curse - and it requires a trip to the notorious Night Witch.

With only his village's terrifying, ancient stories as a guide, and his two friends Engle and Melda by his side, Tor must travel across unpredictable Emblem Island, filled with wicked creatures he only knows through myths, in a race against his dwindling lifeline.

Summer Lifeguards

by Elizabeth Doyle Carey, illustrated by Judit Mallol

Summer is more fun at the beach! Follow Jenna, Piper, Selena, and Ziggy in this exciting new series starter about the power of friendship, community, and being grateful for what you have

It's summer on Cape Cod and Jenna, Selena, Piper, and Ziggy have a lot going on. Jenna's about to compete in the regional swim meet. Selena can't wait to audition for the autumn school play. Piper's busy working as a stable hand on her grandmother's farm. And Ziggy spends her time supporting many environmental causes.

But the threat of a hurricane shows the girls how much the community lifeguards are valued as they help batten down the hatches before the storm. Maybe being a summer lifeguard is a job they should all aspire to.

Story Thieves meets Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library in this wacky, funny, hilarious, and fast-paced middle grade series starter with the perfect combination of magic, imagination, and adventure

Javi Santiago is trying his best not to fail sixth grade. So, when the annual "invite any three people to dinner" homework assignment rolls around, Javi enlists his best friend, Wiki, and his sister, Brady, to help him knock it out of the park.

But the dinner party is a lot more than they bargained for. The family's mysterious antique table actually brings the historical guests to the meal. . . and Blackbeard the Pirate is turning out to be the worst guest of all time.

Before they can say "avast, ye maties," Blackbeard escapes, determined to summon his bloodthirsty pirate crew. And as Javi, Wiki, and Brady try to figure out how to get Blackbeard back into his own time, they might have to invite some even zanier figures to set things right again.

Time Villains

by Victor Pineiro

Story Thieves meets Escape from Mr. Lemoncello's Library in this #ownvoices middle grade series starter filled with action, adventure, and good pirate fun

Javi Santiago is just a sandwich-obsessed Puerto Rican trying to host the ultimate dinner party and not fail sixth grade. When the annual "Any Three People to Dinner" homework assignment rolls around, Javi needs help, so he pulls his best friend Wiki and his kid sister Brady into the effort. But none of them predicted that the family's mysterious antique table would actually bring their storied guests to the meal. And who did they invite? Kid Mozart, the Earl of Sandwich, and... Blackbeard the Pirate. Whoops!

Before they can say "avast, ye maties," Blackbeard escapes and Javi's world does an awkward somersault. As the trio tries to avoid the bloodthirsty pirate, a few of their teachers come to their aid - teachers who are suspiciously out of place. But there's no time to think - Blackbeard is intent on summoning his pirate crew, so Javi may have to invite some even zanier figures from the past to set things right again.

A Wilder Magic

by Juliana Brandt

From the author of The Wolf of Cape Fen comes a beautiful and lyrical story about one family with magic in their bones, and what happens when we have to give up what we love most

For generations, Sybaline Shaw's family has lived in an enchanted valley in the Appalachian Mountains, using their magic to help grow the land. But now the government has built a dam that will force the Shaws to relocate, and they're running out of time before their home will be flooded.

Sybaline and her cousin Nettle can't imagine life without the valley and its magic, so they decide to stay. Using magic, they build an invisible wall around their home. As the water rises, they learn a terrible truth: the water will continue to rise, leaving them to live beneath the lake itself.

There is also a consequence to using magic selfishly, one that might transform both her and Nettle forever. If she can't find a way to escape, Syballine and the ones she loves could be trapped in the valley forever.

Praise for The Wolf of Cape Fen:

"A stunning seaside fairy tale that will absorb readers until the very end."-

A beautiful and lyrical stand-alone story, from the author of the highly-acclaimed The Wolf of Cape Fen, about a family with magic in their bones

For generations, Sybaline's family has lived in a magical valley in the Appalachian mountains, helping the magic grow the land. But now the government has ordered them to relocate; their valley is needed to create a dam for electricity. In one week, their home will be flooded.

Sybaline can't imagine life without her home and without magic, so she stays. Using her magic she builds a wall, and as water floods the valley, it ends up covering her house anyway, leaving her living beneath the lake itself.

But there is a consequence to using magic in such a way, one that will transform both herself and the friends who end up trapped beneath the water with her.

Pencilvania

by Stephanie Watson, illustrated by Sofia Moore

In this illustrated, modern take on The Phantom Tollbooth meets Harold and the Purple Crayon, author Stephanie Watson beautifully explores grief and creativity through an unforgettable fantasy world

Ever since she first learned to hold a crayon, Zora Webb has been unstoppable. Her drawings fill sketchbooks and cover the walls of the happy home she shares with Frankie and their mother.

But when Zora's mom is diagnosed with leukemia, everything changes. After months of watching her mom grow weaker, a frustrated Zora draws her mother's portrait in an attempt to force her to face the truth - that she might not get better. When her mother dies the next day, Zora blames herself and her art.

Desperate to escape the pain, Zora scribbles out her artwork. Her dark, furious scribbles lift off the page and yank Zora and Frankie into Pencilvania, a magical world that's home to everything Zora has ever drawn. And one drawing - a scribbled-out horse named Viscardi - is determined to finish the destruction Zora started.

Viscardi kidnaps Frankie, promising to scribble out her and all of Pencilvania at sunrise. Zora sets out to rescue her sister, venturing deep into Pencilvania - a place crawling with old memories and new dangers.

Scratch Scratch

by Lindsay Currie

For fans of Small Spaces comes a chilling ghost story about a malevolent spirit, an unlucky girl, and a haunting mystery that will tie the two together. Now in paperback!

Claire has absolutely no interest in the paranormal. She's a scientist, which is why she can't think of anything worse than having to help out her dad on one of his ghost-themed Chicago bus tours. She thinks she's made it through when she sees a boy with a sad face and dark eyes at the back of the bus. There's something off about his presence, especially because when she checks at the end of the tour. . . he's gone.

Claire tries to brush it off, she must be imagining things, letting her dad's ghost stories get the best of her. But then the scratching starts. Voices whisper to her in the dark. The number 396 appears everywhere she turns. And the boy with the dark eyes starts following her.

Claire is being haunted. The boy from the bus wants something. . . and Claire needs to find out what before it's too late.

The Disaster Days

by Rebecca Behrens

Hatchet meets The Babysitters Club in this epic and thrilling survival story about pushing oneself to the limit in the face of a crisis.

We were all alone, in a shaken and shattered house, in the dark. And I was in charge.

Hannah Steele loves living on Pelling, a tiny island near Seattle. She's always felt totally safe there.

So when she's asked to babysit after school one day, it's no big deal. Zoe and Oscar are her next-door neighbors, and Hannah just took a babysitting class, which she's pretty sure makes her an expert. She isn't even worried that she left her inhaler at home.

Then the shaking begins.

The terrifying earthquake only lasts four minutes, but it changes everything—damaging the house, knocking out the power, and making cell service nonexistent. Even worse, the ferry and the bridge connecting the kids to help—and their parents—are both blocked, which means they're stranded alone. And Hannah's in charge as things go from bad to worse.

Praise for The Disaster Days:

A realistic, engrossing survival story that's perfect for aspiring babysitters and fans of John Macfarlane's Stormstruck!, Sherry Shahan's Ice Island, or Wesley King's A World Below.—School Library Journal

The Dark Tide

by Alicia Jasinska

The Wicked Deep meets A Curse So Dark and Lonely in this gripping, dark fairy-tale LGBTQ fantasy about two girls who must choose between saving themselves, each other, or their sinking island city

Every year on St. Walpurga's Eve, Caldella's Witch Queen lures a boy back to her palace. An innocent life to be sacrificed on the full moon to keep the island city from sinking.

Lina Kirk is convinced her brother is going to be taken this year. To save him, she enlists the help of the mysterious Thomas Lin, the boy she secretly loves, and the only person to ever escape from the palace. Working together they save her brother, but they draw the queen's attention, and Thomas is then chosen as the sacrifice.

Queen Eva cast away her heart when her sister died to save the boy she loved. Now as queen, she won't make the same mistake. With the tide rising higher than ever before and the islanders whispering that Eva's magic is failing, she's willing to sacrifice anyone if it means saving herself and her city.

When Lina offers herself in exchange for Thomas's freedom, the two girls await the full moon together. Against their will, they find themselves falling for each other. As water floods Caldella's streets and the dark tide demands its sacrifice, they must choose whom to save.

The Nature of Witches

by Rachel Griffin

Practical Magic meets Twister in this debut standalone fantasy about seasonal witches, a heartbreaking power, and the ways we unknowingly change our fate

Practical Magic meets Twister in this debut contemporary fantasy standalone about heartbreaking power, the terror of our collapsing atmosphere, and the ways we unknowingly change our fate.

For centuries, witches have maintained the climate, their power from the sun peaking in the season of their birth. But now their control is faltering as the atmosphere becomes more erratic. All hope lies with Clara, an Everwitch whose rare magic is tied to every season.

In Autumn, Clara wants nothing to do with her power. It's wild and volatile, and the price of her magic - losing the ones she loves - is too high, despite the need to control the increasingly dangerous weather.

In Winter, the world is on the precipice of disaster. Fires burn, storms rage, and Clara accepts that she's the only one who can make a difference.

In Spring, she falls for Sang, the witch training her. As her magic grows, so do her feelings, until she's terrified Sang will be the next one she loses.

In Summer, Clara must choose between her power and her happiness, her duty and the people she loves. . .before she loses Sang, her magic, and thrusts the world into chaos.

What We Devour

by Linsey Miller

Beauty and the Beast meets Wicked Saints in this standalone dark fantasy from the author of Mask of Shadows duology and Belle Révolte

Undertaker Lorena knows what her future holds - she'll finish her apprenticeship, marry her best friend Julian, and live in a land ruled by a bloodthirsty family convinced they alone can keep ancient demons from descending on the kingdom. But when Julian receives news that his father has been convicted of crimes against the crown, the two head to the capital to help.

When Lorena is kidnapped by Crown Prince Alistair, she learns he's not the violent inheritor rumors have painted him to be. He explains that the sacrifices are a necessary evil - the demons are very real and require more and more blood to keep them at bay.

As a rebellion grows more certain, Lorena becomes less sure of her loyalties. Should she trust the boy she thought she loved and the world she thought she knew? Or should her loyalties lie with the centuries-old legends of the boy she barely knows who has everything to lose?

Prelude for Lost Souls

by Helene Dunbar

The Raven Boys meets The Astonishing Color of After in this story of two boys in a special town where everyone can talk to the dead. Some see it as a blessing; others a curse. Now in paperback!

In the town of St. Hilaire, most make their living by talking to the dead. And, in the summer, the gates open to tourists seeking answers, while all activity is controlled by The Guild.

Dec Hampton has lived there his entire life, but ever since his parents died, he's over being a medium-for-hire. He knows he has to leave before The Guild has a chance to stop him.

His best friend Russ is a good medium, maybe even a great one. He's made sacrifices for his gift and will do whatever he can to gain entry to The Guild, even embracing dark forces and contacting the most elusive ghost in town.

But when the train of Annie Krylova, the piano prodigy whose music has been Dec's main source of solace, breaks down outside the gates, it sets off an unexpected chain of events. And in St. Hilaire, there are no such things as coincidences.

Sunny Song Will Never Be Famous

by Suzanne Park

A social media influencer is shipped off to a digital detox summer camp in this funny coming-of-age story

Sunny Song's Big Summer Goals:

- 1) Make Rafael Kim my boyfriend (finally!)
- 2) Hit 100K followers (almost there. . .)
- 3) Have the best last summer of high school ever

Not on Sunny's list: accidentally filming a PG-13 cooking video that goes viral (#browniegate). Extremely not on her list: being shipped off to a digital detox farm camp in Iowa (IOWA??) for a whole month. She's traded in her WiFi connection for a butter churn, and if she wants any shot at growing her social media platform this summer, she'll need to find a way back online.

But between some unexpected friendships and an alarmingly cute farm boy, Sunny might be surprised by the connections she makes when she's forced to disconnect.

The Summer of Broken Rules

by K. L. Walther

It's all fun and games until someone loses their heart

When Meredith Fox lost her sister, Claire, eighteen months ago, she shut everyone out. But this summer she's determined to join the world again.

The annual family vacation to Martha's Vineyard seems like the perfect place to reconnect. Her entire extended family is gathering for a big summer wedding, and although Meredith is dateless after being unexpectedly dumped, she's excited to participate in the traditional Fox family game of assassin that will take place during the week of wedding festivities. Claire always loved the game, and Meredith is determined to honor her legacy.

But when Meredith forms an assassin alliance with a cute groomsman, she finds herself getting distracted. Meredith tries to focus on the game and win it for her sister, but she can't help falling for him. And as the week progresses, she realizes she's not only at risk of losing the game, but also her heart.

Any Place But Here

by Sarah Van Name

Morgan Matson meets Sarah Dessen in this emotional story about toxic friendships, new family, unexpected romance, and finding the place you belong.

That's what Jess was to me.
I was the ground; she was the rain.
I wasn't anything until she woke me up.

Seventeen-year-old June can't imagine life without her best friend Jess. June was a nobody until Jess chose her. And June's not sure who she is without Jess.

But after June is expelled from school at the end of her first semester of junior year, she's forced to move to Virginia, to live with her grandmother and attend an all-girls boarding school. She'll be miles away from her home, from her family, and from Jess.

June is miserable in Virginia and counts down the days until she can come back home for the summer. But when she befriends two new girls and meets Sam, who she is instantly drawn to, life in Virginia starts to feel more real. And as she begins to question if she has more than just a friendship with Jess, Jess pulls away, leaving June with more questions than answers.

June can't let Jess go - but she needs to figure out how to move forward, and how to find the place she really belongs.

A brand new YA thriller from Hannah Jayne that explores the nightmare of being accused of murdering your own family...and you don't remember a single thing

Andrea McNulty goes to sleep on her eighteenth birthday with a near-perfect life. But when she wakes up in a motel room covered in blood and unable to remember what happened the previous night, she becomes a fugitive.

According to the news, Andi's parents were brutally attacked. Her father is dead, her mother is in a coma, and her little brother Joshua is missing. Andi has no choice but to team up with Nate, the boy working the motel's front desk, to find the real killer. Police have named Andi a prime suspect, and while they are getting further from the real killer, the killer is getting closer to Andi - closer than she could ever have imagined.

14 Ways to Die

by Vincent Ralph

A twisty YA thriller for the digital age about a girl who is determined to use her YouTube reality series to help catch her mother's murderer

Ten years ago, Jess's mother was murdered by suspected serial killer, the Magpie Man. She was the first of his victims but not the last.

Jess is the star of a YouTube reality series and she's using her platform to catch the killer once and for all. She knows that thirteen people have been killed at the hand of the Magpie Man, and it's only a matter of time before he claims his next victim. Jess is convinced that someone, somewhere knows something. And she's going to leverage her show to shine a fresh light on a cold case.

The whole world is watching her every move. And so is the Magpie Man.

The Dark Way Down

by Chelsea Ichaso

A gripping new twisty YA thriller from the author of Little Creeping Things—when her sister fell, Savannah knew it was her fault. But, was it?

Piper Sullivan never should have been at Suicide Point the day she fell. Her older sister, Savannah, knows this with all her heart - just as she knows that Piper's "accident" was entirely her fault. Savannah did something awful, something she can barely stand to think about, and now Piper is in a coma.

But just as Savannah's guilt threatens to swallow her whole, she finds something strange in Piper's locker: a note inviting Piper to a meeting of their school's wilderness club. . .at the very place and on the very day she fell. Which means that there's a chance that Piper wasn't alone.

Maybe it isn't Savannah's fault, after all. Someone in the club might know what really happened. Someone might have done something. But why? If Savannah wants to find out the truth about what happened to Piper, she'll have to join the club on their weekend long camping trip. . .on the very same mountain where her sister fell. And with everyone in the club a suspect, she'll need to be careful or she might follow her sister into the dark.

The Perfect Place to Die

by Bryce Moore

Stalking Jack the Ripper meets a YA Devil in the White City in this terrifying story of a girl trying to save her sister from one of the most notorious mass murders in history

When Zuretta's sister, Ruby, travels to Chicago, and disappears, Zuretta leaves home to find her. She has a little bit of money from her Utah church, an abiding fandom of the legendary Pinkertons, and a deep hope and faith of finding Ruby soon.

After a series of mishaps, she claws her way forward, taking a job in the very place her sister Ruby last worked - a hotel owned by notorious serial killer Dr. H. H. Holmes.

But Zuretta's efforts to find out what happened to her sister don't go unnoticed, and before long, she finds herself up against one of the most infamous mass murderers in American history - and his custom-built death trap.

Author Bio
