SPAGHETTATA

100 Italian Pantry Recipes for Off-the-Cuff Cooking

BY SHEELA PRAKASH, PHOTOGRAPHS BY KRISTIN TEIG

A delicious celebration of effortless Italian cooking and irresistible Italian charm, featuring 100 flexible pantry recipes—each with a beautiful photograph—from Italian cuisine expert Sheela Prakash.

The Italian expression "facciamo una spaghettata!" literally means "Let's do a spaghetti dinner!" But it captures something bigger: the joy of gathering around a simple meal made with whatever you have on hand. Inspired by this casual, welcoming approach to cooking, Spaghettata offers satisfying dishes for busy weeknights, relaxed dinners with friends, and everything in between.

Recipes are scaled to serve two or four people and include riffs, variations, and swaps that make it easy to cook from your pantry and adapt dishes to your tastes.

Sheela Prakash is a food writer, a recipe developer, and cookbook author. She was an editor at The Kitchn for eight years, worked at Epicurious and Food52. She is a contributor to New York Times Cooking and publishes recipes in Bon Appétit, Food & Wine, and beyond.

MORE THAN 800,000 DUMB BIRDS COPIES SOLD

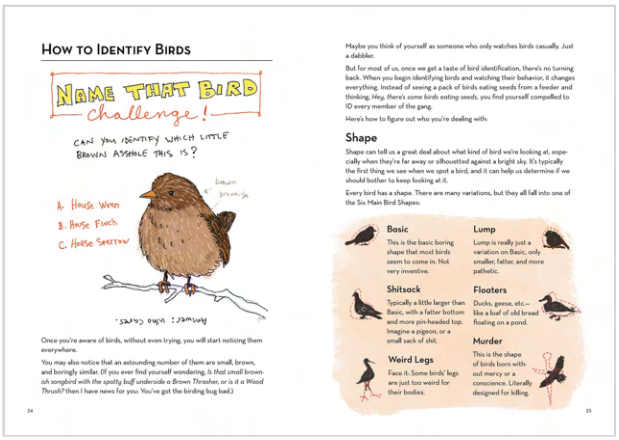

THE FIELD GUIDE TO DUMB BIRDS DUMB BIRDER'S HANDBOOK

BY MATT KRACHT

The wildly popular Field Guide to Dumb Birds series expands with an all-new illustrated handbook packed with sharp humor, surprising facts, and genuinely useful birdwatching advice from professional birding amateur and national bestselling author Matt Kracht.

Birdwatching, birding, crouching in the woods waiting for some dumb birds to show up . . . whatever you call it, this weird pastime is more popular than ever. Going beyond the traditional field guide, this funny, cranky, and actually practical guide explores the how and whys of birding, including a short history, essential (and completely unnecessary) equipment, identification and criticism skills, bird behavior, keeping notes on the little weirdos, attracting them to your home (why!?), and more.

Packed with tips, inspiration, and commiseration. It is the must-have guide for how to watch birds—if you're into that.

Matt Kracht is a professional birding amateur, writer, and illustrator who enjoys creating books that celebrate the humor inherent in life's absurdities. He is the author of the bestselling Field Guide to Dumb Birds series. He is based in Tacoma, Washington.

GO BACK TO GO FORTH

Wisdom from Your Seven-Year-Old Self

BY ANNIE BARROWS
ILLUSTRATED BY OLESYA SHCHUKINA

From the bestselling author Annie Barrows comes a wise and encouraging reminder to rediscover the way you moved through the world at seven years old: curious, imaginative, and fully alive to possibility. The perfect gift for graduation and milestone moments at any age.

Adapted from Annie Barrows's heartfelt commencement address to the English graduates of the University of California, Berkeley, this slim but resonant volume invites readers to move forward by reconnecting with their imaginative and wide-open seven-year-old selves.

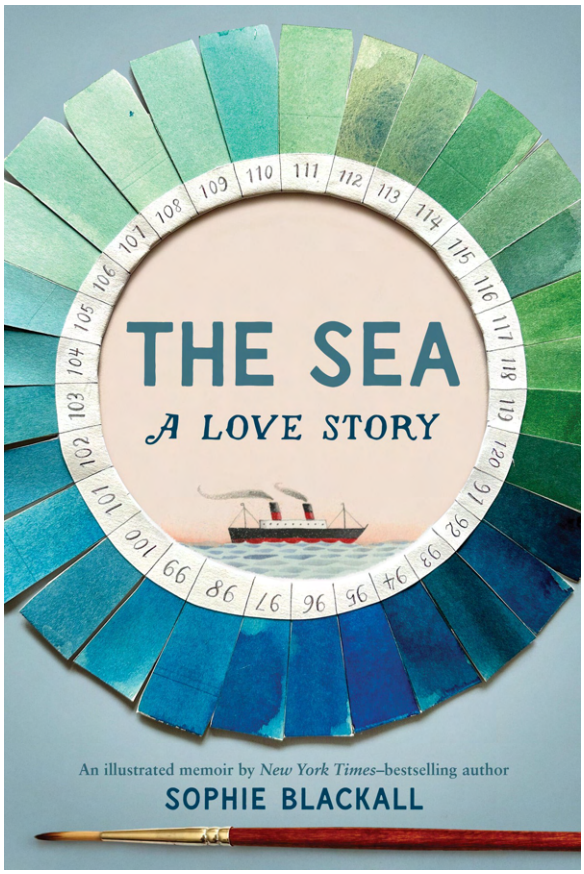

With warmth, humor, and hard-earned wisdom, Annie urges graduates to draw on the power of that inner self to resist the forces that flatten curiosity and stifle joy.

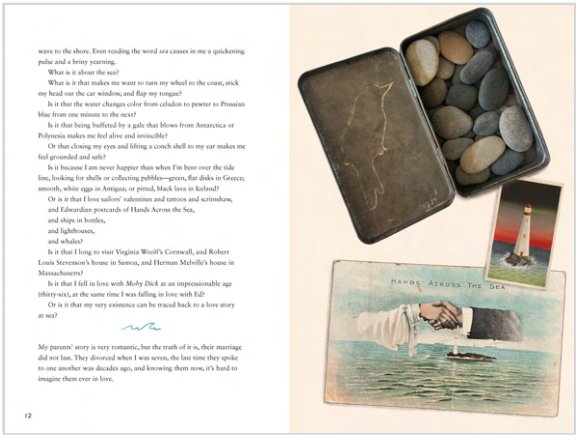

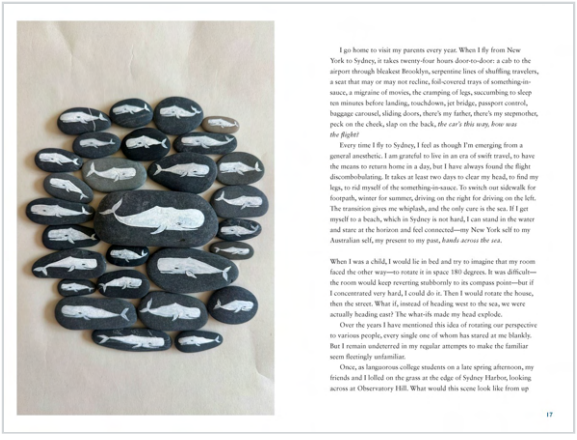

Annie Barrows is the bestselling author of books for both children and adults, including the Ivy + Bean series, the Iggy series, the YA novel Nothing, and is the coauthor bestselling novel The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Society, which was made into a Netflix movie. She lives in Northern California.

THE SEA

A Love Story

BY SOPHIE BLACKALL

An exquisitely illustrated memoir and meditation on the sea from New York Times bestselling author Sophie Blackall, creator of Things to Look Forward To and Hello Lighthouse.

In this deeply personal and entirely original memoir, Sophie Blackall explores the ocean and the stories it holds through memory, natural observation, history, and art. A 24-day voyage becomes a current carrying her between the shipboard romance of her parents and reflections on her own life and loves, revealing the sea as a source of wonder, longing, and connection.

Told across 24 daily chapters that move between past and present, this illustrated memoir encompasses shipwrecks and sturgeons, cyanometers and poetry, science and family history.

"The Sea is a voyage into the past, into history and science, into loss and love, into the world that lies beneath the water and the world that soars above it. This is a journey both beautiful and profound. Sophie Blackall is a genius."
—Ann Patchett, New York Times bestselling author

Sophie Blackall is an award-winning illustrator of over 50 books for children, including the New York Times–bestselling Ivy and Bean series. Originally from Australia, she now splits her time between Brooklyn, New York, and the Catskill Mountains.

MAHJONG COCKTAIL CLUB

40+ Recipes for Drinks and Snacks

BY CAER MAIKO FERGUSON AND SHARON YEUNG

Make your next mahjong night even more festive with 40+ cocktails and shareable snacks featuring vibrant Asian flavors.

Come for the tiles; stay for the 'tinis!

Mahjong Cocktail Club serves up more than 40 recipes created for sipping and snacking around the table. Mix up an Imperial Ruby Paloma, Jade Hand Highball, or Pearl Dragon Mojito, then add tempting bites such as Mapo Tofu Dip, Nori Furikake Popcorn, or Malay Spiced Nuts.

Yuzu, black sesame, coconut milk, ube, chili oil, and other bold ingredients flavor a collection of cocktails inspired by mahjong and the culture surrounding it. The authors share the game's history and celebrate the connections formed through play. A chapter on Boozy(ish) Snacks offers ideas for serving classic nibbles and dim sum alongside the drinks.

Welcome new players, treat your longtime mahjong group, or turn an ordinary gathering into an occasion. This spirited collection brings plenty of flavor and fun to the next round.

Caer Maiko Ferguson and Sharon Yeung are award-winning bartenders and founders of Daijoubu, a cocktail pop-up that makes original "Super Asian Cocktails" with the goal of creating space for Asian American flavors, culture, and people in the craft cocktail world. They're based in Los Angeles and Seattle.

FEAST YOUR EYES

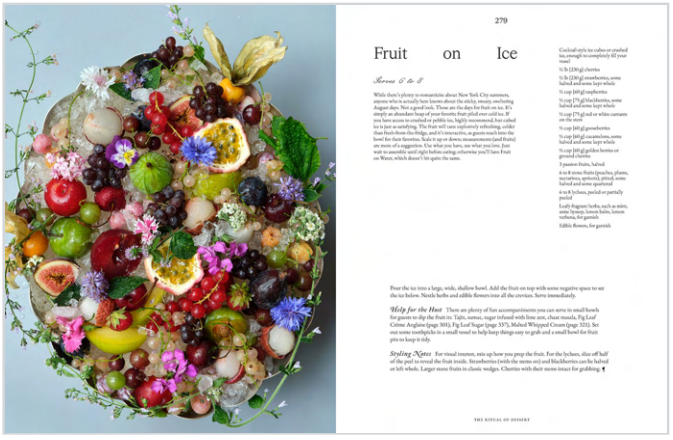

Beautiful Recipes to Garnish, Share, and Savor

BY NOREEN WASTI

A feast for the senses, this stunning cookbook celebrates maximalist cooking, beautiful presentation, and joyful gathering with more than 100 recipes.

Growing up in a Pakistani American household where her parents threw regular dinner parties with freshly snipped flowers and way too much food, Noreen Wasti learned to express herself and her love for others through cooking. Known in the New York food scene for her lush, layered style, Wasti creates lavish spreads and dishes as stunning as they are delicious, adorned with edible flowers, fresh herbs, and whimsical flourishes.

These recipes are a feast of beauty and bounty. Glazed, embellished, adorned. Showered with flowers and dusted with spices. Served in crystal coupes and tiny bowls, on silver platters and vintage trays.

Noreen Wasti is a cook, baker, and food creative who was born to host. Her layered, luminous, floral-laden dishes and abundant table settings are inspired by the seasons, classical art, and her Pakistani-American upbringing. Her path has taken her from Rhode Island to Dubai and now Brooklyn, New York.

WHAT TO WEAR EVERY DAY

A Guide to Timeless Style

BY LAUREL PANTIN

From acclaimed fashion expert and writer of the popular Substack Earl Earl Laurel Pantin—this smart, funny, and refreshingly practical style guide is for women of all ages who love clothes but want a wardrobe that works for the life they're actually living.

Getting dressed should be fun (and functional) at every age and every stage of life. What to Wear Every Day is the go-to guide to discovering your personal style and taking the guesswork out of everyday dressing.

As Laurel approached her 40th birthday, she realized that while she still loved fashion and dressing well, her life, body, priorities, and personal style had evolved. Between school drop-off, errands, work meetings, family life, and the occasional party or fashion event, she wanted to wear stylish and comfortable clothes that also made her feel powerful and beautiful and the most like herself. And she wasn't alone—she noticed that all her friends and clients of a certain age were experiencing the exact same thing. So she wrote this inspiring guide to share her practical advice for cultivating personal style outside of fashion trends and building a functional everyday wardrobe whether you're 35 or 65.

Laurel Pantin is a former magazine editor and fashion director (InStyle, Lucky, Glamour, and Teen Vogue) who now writes the popular style newsletter Earl Earl. Laurel lives in Los Angeles with her husband and two kids.

MONTEREY POP 1967

Stories and Photographs from the Defining Musical Moment

BY AMELIA DAVIS AND JOEL SELVIN
PHOTOGRAPHS BY JIM MARSHALL

Experience the 1967 Monterey International Pop Festival through more than 200 photographs by legendary photographer Jim Marshall. This deluxe volume reveals the artists, energy, and unforgettable atmosphere of three days that reshaped popular music.

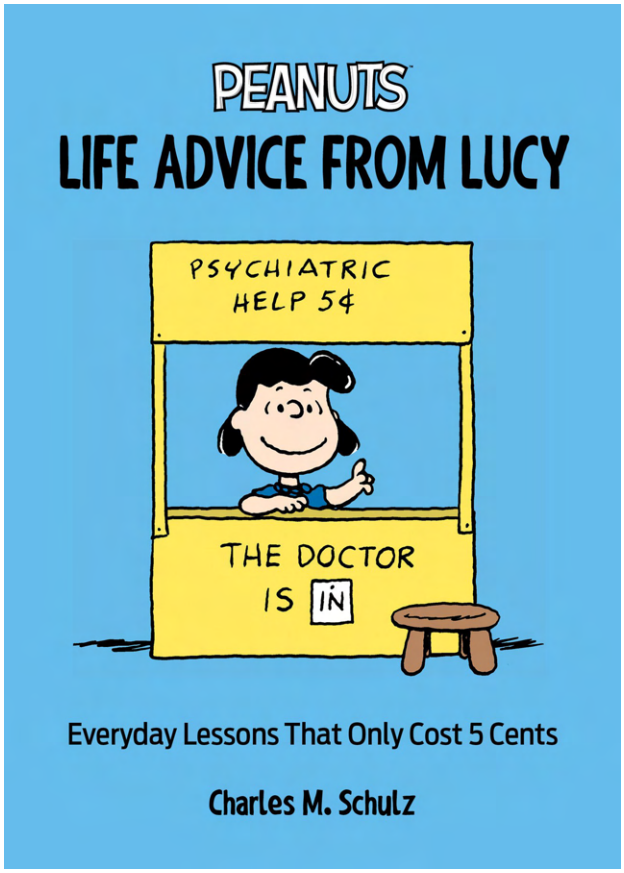

This is the ultimate record of the extraordinary weekend in Monterey, California, when Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin, and the Who exploded onto the American consciousness. The festival brought together groundbreaking artists, including Jefferson Airplane, Simon and Garfunkel, the Mamas and the Papas, Otis Redding, Ravi Shankar, and the Grateful Dead.

Jim Marshall, who died in 2010 at age 74, is widely celebrated as a premier music photographer and pioneer of the genre. His portfolio includes photos of virtually every major musician of his era, including the icons of rock and roll, as well as giants of jazz, blues, and country. Annie Leibovitz called him “THE rock and roll photographer.”

Amelia Davis, owner of Jim Marshall Photography LLC, was legendary photographer Jim Marshall’s longtime personal assistant. Since his passing, Davis has edited eight Jim Marshall monographs and curated yearly photographic exhibitions of Marshall’s work.

DIDN'T I JUST FEED THEM YESTERDAY?

And Other Reflections on the Joys of Motherhood

BY ANNE TAINTOR

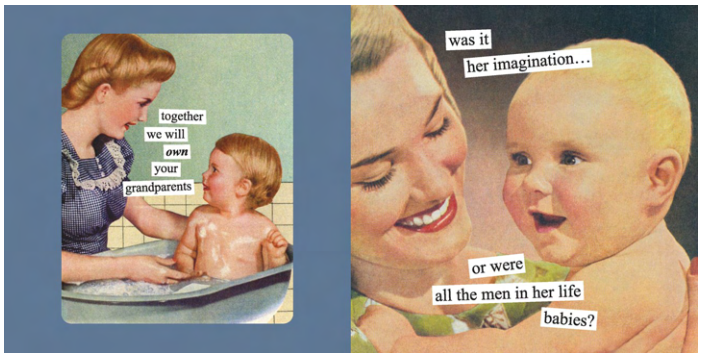

Celebrate the many-splendored triumphs, tantrums, and "did that really just happen?" moments of motherhood in this hilarious collection of vintage-with-a-twist art and wit from the bestselling queen of women's humor, Anne Taintor.

Are you still looking for that village where people help raise your children? Are you too young for a minivan? Are they growing up so fast . . . and yet somehow not nearly fast enough? Welcome to motherhood.

Pairing vintage artwork with her signature sharp and relatable humor, Anne Taintor perfectly captures the chaos, love, exhaustion, and absurdity of raising kids. Funny, sarcastic, and sympathetic, Didn't I Just Feed Them Yesterday? proves that being a mother is a lot easier when you remember to laugh.

Anne Taintor is a collage artist (and mediocre painter) living in Portland, Maine. Much emulated, never replicated, she first began pairing vintage illustrations with witty sayings forty years ago, cutting and gluing images at her kitchen table. She is the author of the bestselling humor books I Can't Be Good All the Time, Someone Has to Set a Bad Example, and But I Wanted a Pony!

DINOSAURS—THEY'RE JUST LIKE US!

Cartoons from the Land Before Ptime

BY WILL KILEY SANTINO

From New Yorker cartoonist Will Kiley Santino comes a hilarious collection of comics about dinosaurs navigating the everyday struggles of modern life.

Turns out dinosaurs weren't so different from us after all. Sure, they had claws, horns, or very tiny arms—but they also dealt with awkward conversations, existential questions, social pressures, and the occasional need to lie down after holding up a very long neck all day.

In Dinosaurs—They're Just Like Us!, comedian and cartoonist Will Kiley Santino imagines a prehistoric world filled with surprisingly relatable problems. These clever comics feature dinosaurs navigating friendships, technology, identity crises, personal growth, and all the little frustrations that make life funny—whether you're a human today or a dinosaur millions of years ago.

Filled with witty one-panel comics and select multi-panel stories, this collection is a perfect gift for dinosaur lovers, cartoon fans, and anyone who knows that sometimes surviving the day is a pretty impressive evolutionary achievement.

Will Kiley Santino sold his first cartoon to The New Yorker in 2020 and has since amassed a passionate online following for his absurd and witty humor. In addition to being a visual artist, he has performed standup on shows with Ronny Chieng and Usama Siddiquee, and can be found doing standup, improv, and clown all over New York City.

Chapter II

Household Familiars

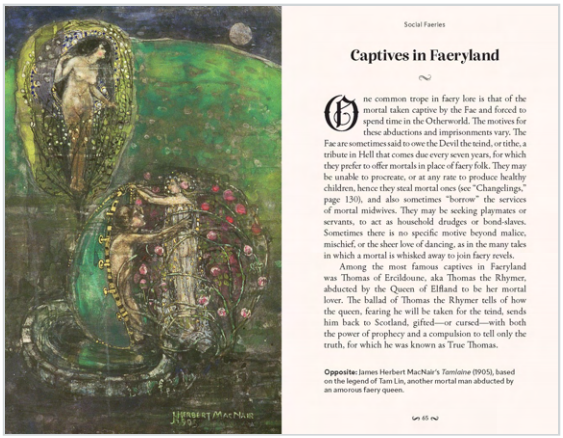

The Fae have always had an ambivalent nature, especially with regards to their interactions with mortal humans. They can be helpful or harmful. On the more benevolent side of the ledger are the class of faeries that includes brownies and their variants, such as bodach and bwca, lobs and hobs, grogachs or gruagachs (the latter famous for their golden hair), the tomte and nisse of Scandinavia, and the domovoi in Russia, among many dozens of others. Generally these are helpful spirits or creatures that attach themselves to a particular family, farm, hearth, or household, and protect or assist the people there. The classic example is the brownie of the Scottish Border country, described as a small man, about 3 feet (1 meter) high, dressed in ragged brown clothes, with a brown face and shaggy hair. The Border brownie comes out at night and finishes tasks not completed by the servants, as well as helping to prevent the livestock from straying. Such creatures clearly belong to the same tradition as the ancient Roman lares familiares and their relations the manes and panes, tutelary and guardian spirits of home, hearth, and pantry, sometimes representing the ancestors.

Complex rules governed relations with the brownie and similar spirits, although these varied with place. Typically they were allowed certain rewards and perks—Border brownies, for instance, were left sweet cakes. But an important rule was not to reward or thank the brownie directly, for this would cause them to leave. A typical example is the tale of the Gunna, an outdoor brownie who helped to herd cattle on the Isle of Tiree, but appeared as a scrawny, ill-clad wretch shivering in the cold. When a farmer took pity on him and tried to offer him some clothes, the Gunna was driven away.

Social Faeries

Captives in Faeryland

One common trope in faery lore is that of the mortal taken captive by the Fae and forced to spend time in the Otherworld. The motives for these abductions and imprisonments vary. The Fae are sometimes said to owe the Devil the teind, or tithe, a tribute in Hell that comes due every seven years, for which they prefer to offer mortals in place of faery folk. They may be unable to procreate, or at any rate to produce healthy children, hence they steal mortal ones (see "Changelings," page 130), and also sometimes "borrow" the services of mortal midwives. They may be seeking playmates or servants, to act as household drudges or bond-slaves. Sometimes there is no specific motive beyond malice, mischief, or the sheer love of dancing, as in the many tales in which a mortal is whisked away to join faery revels.

Among the most famous captives in Faeryland was Thomas of Ercildoune, aka Thomas the Rhymer, abducted by the Queen of Elfland to be her mortal lover. The ballad of Thomas the Rhymer tells of how the queen, fearing he will be taken for the teind, sends him back to Scotland, gifted—or cursed—with both the power of prophecy and a compulsion to tell only the truth, for which he was known as True Thomas.

Opposite: James Herbert MacNair's Tamlaine (1905), based on the legend of Tam Lin, another mortal man abducted by an amorous faery queen.

POCKET BOOK OF THE FAE

Myth, Magic & Meaning

BY JOEL LEVY

A gorgeously illustrated pocket guide to the myths, magic, and folklore of the Fae from around the world.

From the author of Pocket Book of Witches and Pocket Book of Dragons comes a fairy-sized compendium of all things Fae. From mischievous household spirits and shape-shifting tricksters to enchanted kingdoms, fairy bargains, and ancient magic, the world of the Fae is as rich and varied as the cultures that tell these stories. Combining stunning artwork with fascinating folklore, Pocket Book of the Fae gathers Fae facts, fictions, and forms.

Filled with captivating stories and beautiful illustrations, Pocket Book of the Fae is an enchanting companion for fantasy fans, folklore enthusiasts, and anyone fascinated by the myths and mysteries of the Fae.

Introduction

This is the fairy land; O spite of spites!
We talk with goblins, owls, and sprites;
If we obey them not, this will ensue,
They'll suck our breath, or pinch us black and blue.
William Shakespeare, The Comedy of Errors

Sometime in the reign of King Stephen, a marvelous strange occurrence befell the village of Woolpit, in Suffolk. "A boy and his sister were found . . . who had the form of all their limbs like . . . other men, but . . . the whole surface of their skin was tinged of a green colour," wrote the medieval chronicler Ralph of Coggeshall, around 1200 CE. The Green Children of Woolpit, as they came to be known, claimed to have come from a country called St. Martin's Land, which existed in perpetual twilight. Led astray by the sound of bells, they had wandered through a tunnel and found themselves on the outskirts of Woolpit. They refused to eat anything but beans, and the boy died, although the girl thrived, soon losing her strange hue.

This peculiar medieval curio has excited reams of speculation ever since it was widely publicized by the Victorian Irish folklorist Thomas Keightley, in his 1850 book The Fairy Mythology. Skeptics have

DELIZIOSA

The Design and Typography of Louise Fili

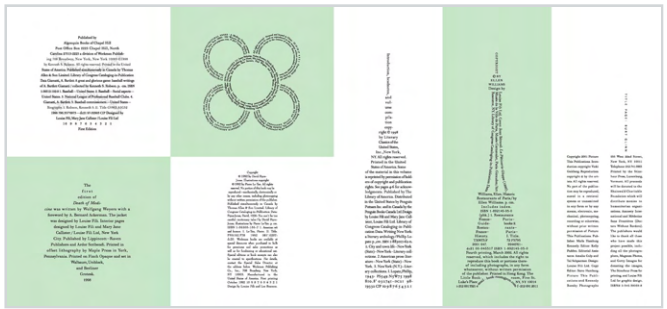

BY LOUISE FILI, FOREWORD BY STEVEN HELLER

A visually rich, career-spanning monograph written by Louise Fili, showcasing her iconic typography, branding, and Italian-inspired design. With a foreword by Steven Heller.

Step into the distinctive world of Louise Fili, one of the most celebrated voices in contemporary graphic design. Deliziosa showcases, in a sweeping chronological survey, decades of her work, from her early career designing book covers at Pantheon (numbering nearly 2,000) to her influential studio practice shaping some of today's most recognizable brands, including Tate's, Sarabeth's, Good Housekeeping, and Late July.

Known for her elegant typography and deep love of Italian visual culture, Fili brings a signature style that blends nostalgia, craftsmanship, and modern sophistication. This volume offers a comprehensive look at her creative evolution—from crafting a restaurant logo in cooked pasta and translating it into unforgettable brand identity to publishing the charming children's book A Typographer's Mother Goose.

Louise Fili, a connoisseur of Italian visual culture, is an internationally celebrated creative director, graphic designer, type designer, and author. She has received Gold and Silver Medals from the Society of Illustrators and the New York Art Director's Club, the Premio Grafico from the Bologna Book Fair, and three James Beard award nominations. Fili has taught and lectured extensively, and her work is in the permanent collections of the Library of Congress, the Cooper Hewitt Museum, and the Bibliothèque Nationale.

THE CULINARY WORKSHOP

Designing for Beauty and Connection in the Kitchen with Henrybuilt

BY SCOTT HUDSON, FOREWORD BY EDWIN HEATHCOTE

Cult-favorite design company Henrybuilt reveals the principles behind a beautiful kitchen that seamlessly brings together exceptional materials, intelligent organization, and lasting functionality.

What makes a kitchen truly work?

For nearly 25 years, Henrybuilt has approached the kitchen not as a collection of cabinets and appliances, but as a complete system designed around the way people cook, move, gather, and live. The Culinary Workshop offers an inside look at that philosophy through the company's most innovative projects and the ideas that shaped them.

Through these richly documented projects, founder Scott Hudson examines three essential layers that shape how a kitchen works best: Individual elements, including cabinetry and storage: the underlying organization that determines layout and flow; materials and surfaces that define how the room looks, feels, and performs.

Scott Hudson is the founder of Henrybuilt. This is his first book.

EATING MARMALADE WITH A SPOON

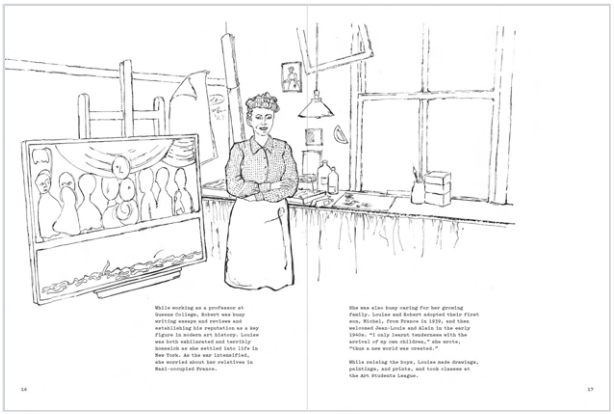

Saturdays with Louise Bourgeois

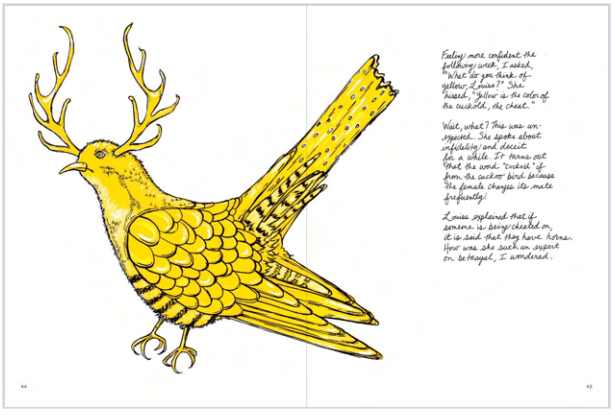

BY HELEN QUINN

A beautifully illustrated personal portrait of legendary artist Louise Bourgeois, told through the memories, artwork, and observations of Helen Quinn from the years she spent sewing for Bourgeois in her New York home.

For two years in the mid-1990s, artist Helen Quinn spent every Saturday morning working as a seamstress for Louise Bourgeois, laboriously pulling her sewing machine through the subway to the artist's brownstone. Told here for the first time, Quinn's memories offer a rare glimpse into the creative world, daily rituals, and unexpected details of one of the most influential artists of the 20th century. Through colorful illustrations and intimate reflections in handwritten text, Eating Marmalade with a Spoon captures a rarely seen side of Bourgeois—from her favorite perfume and ice cream flavors to lunches of macaroni mixed with beets and quiet moments making art.

Helen Quinn is an artist, stylist, and educator based in Queens, New York. Her multidisciplinary career includes paint color development, sustainable textile design, and prop and set styling for television, magazines, and retail projects. Helen has attended numerous artist residencies and exhibits her work internationally, with shows in Queens, New York; the Czech Republic; and Norway.

DOTTIE THE DOUBTOPOTAMUS

BY SASHA MAYER

Meet Dottie, a hilarious and hugely relatable new picture book character whose runaway worries lead to big laughs—and an even bigger lesson about discovering the courage to try even when doubts get in the way!

Some days, Dottie is a hippo who handles things. Other days, Dottie is a hippo who hesitates.

She gets down in her doubts and worked up in her WHAT IFs. And once she starts feeling like a doubtopotamus, finding her way back isn't always easy.

When Dottie is invited to her best best friend's sleepover, her imagination begins spinning. What if she can't fall asleep? What if she trips, falls, and gets her head stuck in a bucket? What if she . . . farts again, like at last year's party?! As one worry leads to another, Dottie must decide whether everything that could go wrong is enough to keep her from going at all.

THE SECRET MAGIC OF HORSE GIRLS

BY BETH BEHRS AND MAUREEN BEHRS
ILLUSTRATED BY ROMINA GALOTTA

Actress and equestrian Beth Behrs and her mother, longtime educator Maureen Behrs, celebrate the joyful spirit of horse girls in this uplifting picture book.

Do you want to be a horse girl? Guess what—you don't have to have a horse or even be a girl. Anyone can be a horse girl. You only have to promise to be exactly who you are.

Horse girls are more than girls who love horses . . .

They are tough and tender leaders who slosh through mud and dance with falling leaves. They recognize the beauty in being different and know when to say, "No, thank you," even if their voices tremble and their legs wobble. Most of all, horse girls pay attention and listen with their hearts.

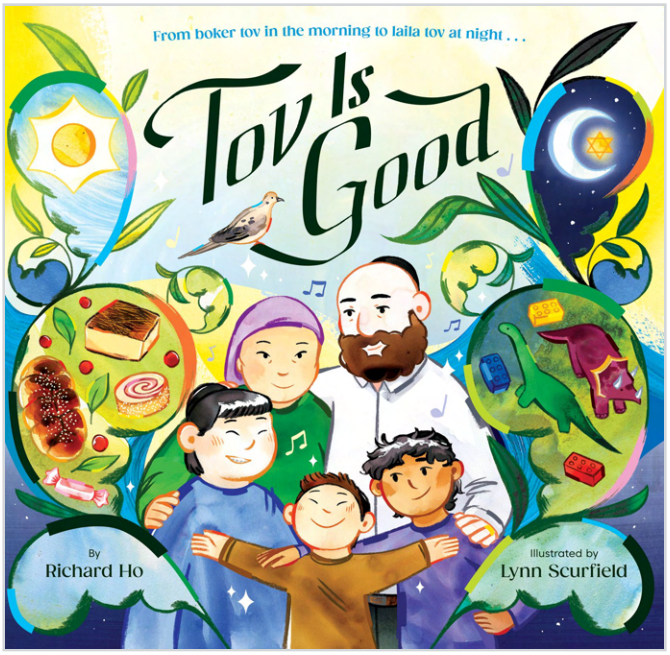

Beth Behrs is an actress, writer, and lifelong horse girl who believes in the magic of storytelling. Best known for her roles on the hit TV series 2 Broke Girls and The Neighborhood. Off-screen, she is also an advocate for children's literacy, regenerative agriculture, and the healing power of horses.

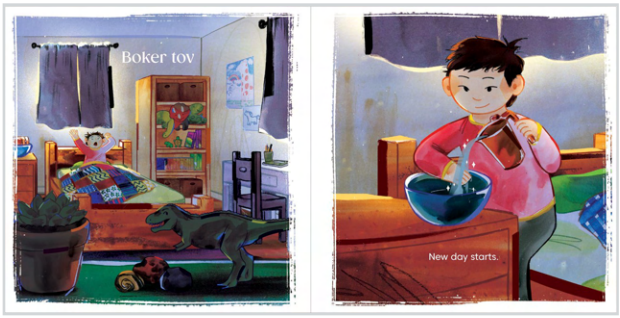

Maureen Behrs is a retired first-grade teacher who spent nearly forty years nurturing young minds and fostering a love of reading.

TOV IS GOOD

Jewish Joy from Morning to Night

BY RICHARD HO, ILLUSTRATED BY LYNN SCURFIELD

From the award-winning creators of Two New Years comes a joyful picture book that brings Hebrew words and Jewish traditions to life through warm storytelling and vibrant illustrations—complete with an engaging glossary of terms for speaking goodness into the world.

Follow a young Jewish boy throughout a good day! Because today is a good day to play with a chaver tov—a good friend. And it's a good day to savor taam tov, such as a meal full of challah, cholent, and kugel. And it's a really good day to celebrate an older brother's bar mitzvah aliyah with a shower of candy—mazel tov!

From boker tov in the morning to laila tov at night, award-winning author Richard Ho and illustrator Lynn Scurfield celebrate all the ways to experience goodness in the Jewish tradition. Today is tov. And tov is good!

I PROMISE

BY SUZANNE DORE

A heartfelt picture book about unconditional love, reassurance, and the courage to take new steps, perfect for fans of classics like Guess How Much I Love You and Runaway Bunny. Makes an ideal gift for baby showers, graduations, and birthdays.

As a young hare prepares to venture out independently for the first time, a loving guardian offers gentle promises of support, encouragement, and constant love. With soft illustrations and lyrical text, I Promise celebrates the special bond between caregiver and child while offering comfort through moments of growth and change.

A soothing read-aloud, this timeless story makes a wonderful gift for Mother's Day, Father's Day, baby showers, graduations, and other milestones, with a reminder that love stays with us wherever life leads.

OUR LOVE IS A SEA OF STARS

BY YAO CHENG

My children would ask me, "Mama, how much do you love me?"

And because love is just too big to put into words, I painted this book as my reply: "Well, why don't I show you?"

Inspired by her children's timeless question, Yao Cheng has created a tender celebration of boundless and unconditional love. A caregiver's devotion can be as vast as the cosmos, as fearless as the highest peaks, and as sweet as an ice cream cone.

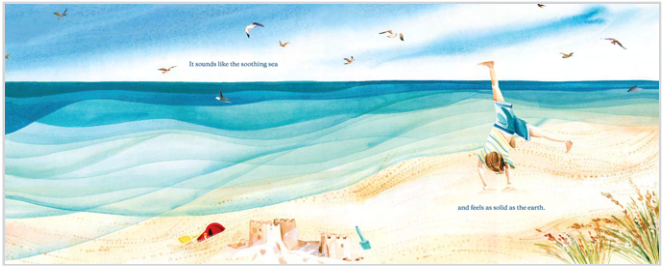

Through gentle text and expressive, hand-painted watercolor artwork, Cheng invites children to recognize love in all its forms —in moments of wonder, in the world around them, and in the people who remain by their side. The closer we look, the more love we find: a love as endless as a sea of stars.

Yao Cheng discovered her passion for art at a young age, during her first drawing class. Since then, she has never stopped creating things with her hands. She studied at Rhode Island School of Design, then worked as a designer before founding her own art studio. Joyful and expressive, Yao's paintings focus on our physical world and the experiences of daily life. They capture the things we cannot see or say but can always feel. Our Love Is a Sea of Stars is her debut picture book. She lives with her family in Columbus, Ohio.

IF YOU LISTEN

A Celebration of Nature

BY NANCY NEVINSKAS, ILLUSTRATED BY JAX CHOW

A beautifully illustrated ode to nature that follows two sisters on a quiet outdoor adventure filled with curiosity and wonder.

If you listen to a seashell, can you hear the ocean roar?

Two sisters set out to explore the world outside their door, finding extraordinary wonders hiding in everyday places. From a tiny acorn to a cloud of colorful monarch butterflies to a vast sky full of stars, each encounter invites them to slow down, look closely, and appreciate the magic of nature.

With gentle text and vibrant illustrations, this picture book celebrates curiosity, imagination, and the simple joy of noticing the amazing things waiting to be found every day.

Nancy Nevinskas is a retired elementary art teacher who lives in Rochester, New York. She was inspired to write If You Listen after observing her young students interact with the natural objects in her art room. She loves children's literature, her garden, her two kitties, and a husband who loves adventure! They enjoy exploring the Finger Lakes region of New York State while listening to the sounds of nature that surround them as they hike and bike.

Jax Chow is the illustrator of Tiny Garden, written by Deborah Underwood. She lives in Portland, Oregon, with her partner and two children. When not painting and drawing, her favorite activity is hiking in a big, beautiful forest, where she and her family try to keep their eyes and ears open to all the wonders it offers.

THE WORLD LAUGHS WITH YOU

A Nepali Dance-Off

BY HARIHAR TIMILSINA
TRANSLATED BY ROHAN CHHETRI
ILLUSTRATED BY BANDANA TULACHAN

Read the world to change the world! Originally published in Nepal in partnership with nonprofit Room to Read, this joyful picture book celebrates creativity, confidence, and the courage to share what makes you special.

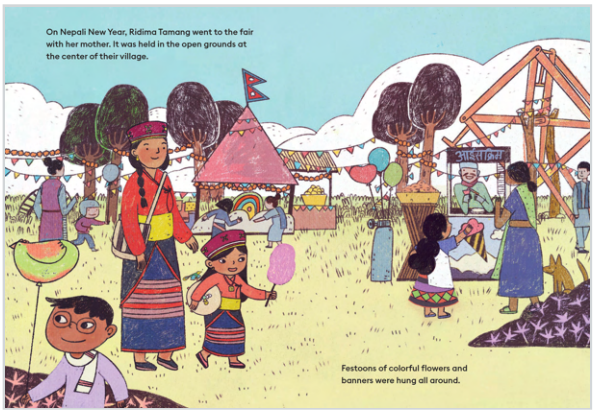

Ridima and her mother head to a Nepali New Year celebration, where Ridima and her classmates will each take the stage at the Cultural Arts Fest.

One friend plays the tungna. Another dances. Someone performs with her dog, while another plays the bansuri. Everyone seems to have something wonderful to share—but as Ridima's turn approaches, she starts to wonder whether anyone will like her act.

With encouragement from her friends, Ridima finds the courage to take the stage and discovers her own way to shine. Soon the audience is laughing and joining in, and the joy they create together spreads through the festival, across the village, and beyond.

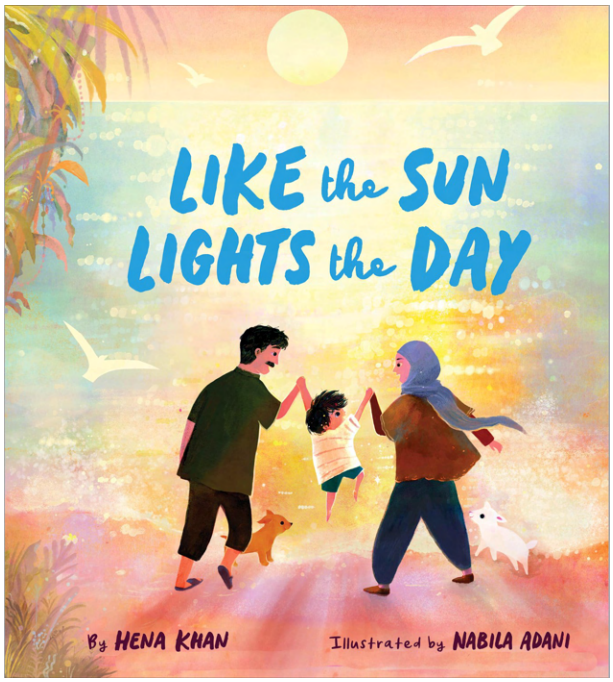

Harihar Timilsina teaches Nepali language and literature and writes poems, stories, songs, and books for children and adults. His literary works for children—over a dozen titles—have been published by Room to Read, the Asia Foundation, Save the Children, and Parichaya Publication, as well as in children's magazines and newspapers. He lives in Bhaktapur, Nepal.

Bandana Tulachan is a children's book author and illustrator. Rooted in the wonder of childhood, her work celebrates the cultural and natural richness of her homeland, blending everyday life with a touch of imagination. She blends mixed media and digital techniques to create artwork with soft textures and playful compositions. She lives in Kathmandu, Nepal.

LIKE THE SUN LIGHTS THE DAY

BY HENA KHAN, ILLUSTRATED BY NABILA ADANI

A radiant companion to Like the Moon Loves the Sky, featuring a parent's wishes for their child inspired by the poetry of Rumi.

Mashallah your love warms like the glowing sun.

Mashallah your life's book has only begun.

Inspired by the words of Persian Sufi poet Jalal al-Din Rumi, Hena Khan's gentle rhyming verses celebrate a parent's wonder as they watch their child grow into the person they are meant to be.

Throughout the story, the refrain "mashallah"—an Arabic phrase used by Muslims to express admiration and gratitude—honors the qualities that make each child special. Paired with Nabila Adani's expressive illustrations, Like the Sun Lights the Day is a tender tribute to the hopes we hold for those we cherish.

Hena Khan is the author of Golden Domes and Silver Lanterns: A Muslim Book of Colors, Like the Moon Loves the Sky, and many other books for children. She is a native of Rockville, Maryland, where she lives with her husband and their two sons.

Nabila Adani originally studied product design and worked as a product designer in Japan and Indonesia before moving to the United States to study children's book illustration. Now back in Jakarta, Indonesia, where she grew up.

TWO LITTLE HOT DOGS

BY CAMEY YEH

Two little hot dogs. One BIG argument between best buds. This hilarious picture book proves that even the closest friends don't have to agree on everything.

Frankie and Ferg are two little hot dogs. And what do little hot dogs do together? Everything, dude!

They sun their buns on the beach. They smash it on the tennis court. They watch scary movies that give them the chills (they're such weenies!). Whatever Frankie and Ferg are up to, they always do it together.

Until one day . . . they don't.

Suddenly, Frankie wants to do one thing, and Ferg wants to do another. What's a pair of best buds to do when being together doesn't mean wanting exactly the same thing?

Packed with food-filled silliness and plenty of heart, Two Little Hot Dogs is a winning story about compromise and discovering that best friends can always find a way to show up for each other.

Camey Yeh is a Taiwanese American illustrator and writer of children's books, including her debut picture book, We're Different and It's Totally Cool! Like Frankie and Ferg, she loves to sun her buns and does not particularly enjoy terrifying movies. Camey lives in San Francisco with her big, fluffy cat, Otis.

TOGETHER

A Book About Community

BY ELISE GRAVEL

From award-winning author-illustrator Elise Gravel comes a funny, empowering exploration of what it means to live, work, and thrive together.

Acclaimed creator Elise Gravel (Killer Underwear Invasion!, This is My Brain!) brings her trademark humor and punchy art to a big question: Why do we need one another, and how do we make sure everyone feels welcome? Humans have always lived in groups. We need each other to survive. Sometimes it's fun to be around other people. Sometimes it's hard. But as a community, we need to protect each other, teach each other, and care for each other.

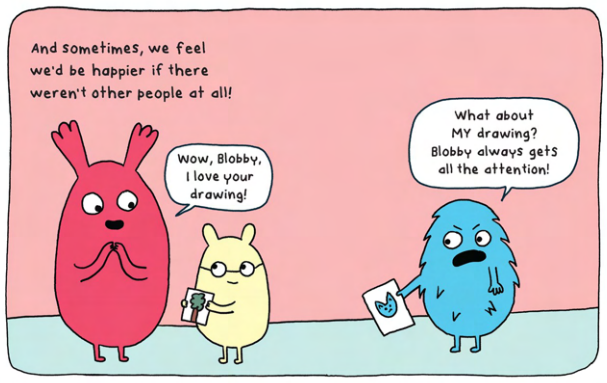

Through quirky characters and brightly colored illustrations, Gravel shows young readers how respect and solidarity can create safer, stronger places where everyone belongs. Refreshingly direct and brightly entertaining, Together makes an important subject easy to understand and discuss.

Elise Gravel is an award-winning author-illustrator who has published dozens of books in both Canada and the United States. Her books have been translated around the world and have received many accolades and awards, including Canada's prestigious Governor General's Literary Award. Elise lives with her husband and their children in Montreal.

THEIR STORY IS OUR STORY

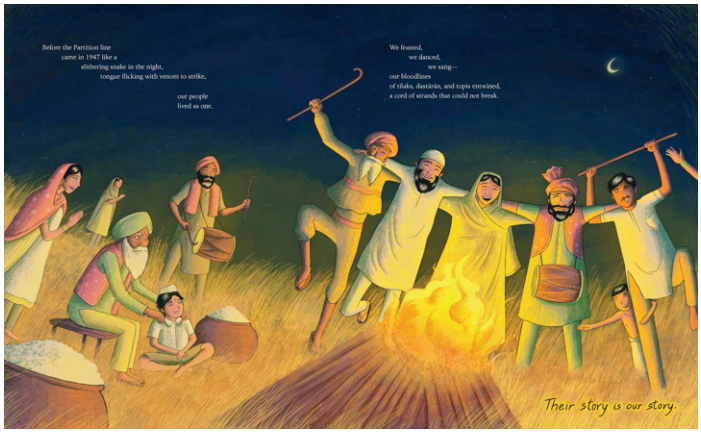

The 1947 Partition—India, Pakistan, and the Legacy of Survival

BY RITU HEMNANI, ILLUSTRATED BY VIPLOV SINGH

A mother shares a story of survival and remembrance with her young son in this moving narrative nonfiction picture book inspired by one family's experience of the 1947 Partition of India.

On a stormy night, unable to sleep, a young boy asks his mother to tell him the story of their family. The tale she recounts begins in 1947, when India was partitioned into the new nations of India and Pakistan, forcing millions of people from their homes. For this family, this meant leaving everything behind and searching for new lives so different from the ones they'd known.

As the storm rages outside, mother and son look back across generations to ancestors whose resilience, courage, and unwavering hope for a brighter future carried them through decades of hardship and uncertainty.

Ritu Hemnani is a journalist, teacher, motivational speaker, and children's author who hopes that every child can see themselves in the pages of a book. An Indian British national, Ritu lives in Hong Kong with her husband and three children.

Viplov Singh is a multidisciplinary artist, illustrator, and animator. Born in India, raised between cultures, and now based in Toronto.

MICHELLE YEOH: FROM BALLERINA TO ACTION HERO

BY KRISTEN MAI GIANG, ILLUSTRATED BY LUCY ZHANG

An inspiring picture book biography celebrating Michelle Yeoh—the world-renowned actress who broke barriers, became the first Asian woman to win the Academy Award for Best Actress, and received the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Michelle Yeoh never set out to become the reigning heroine of Hong Kong martial arts cinema, the first Asian woman to win Best Actress at the Oscars, or a recipient of the nation's highest civilian honor for breaking stereotypes and enriching American culture. But she did set out to do what was right for her—even if "what was right for Michelle" didn't always look the way others expected it to.

From ballet stages to martial arts to Hollywood history, Michelle has always followed her own path—even when it meant paving the way herself. This empowering true story about her boundless determination, grace, and creativity will speak to readers of all ages and backgrounds, demonstrating the essential truth that there are many ways to be a visionary, but all begin with believing in yourself and daring to pursue your dreams.

Kristen Mai Giang is a Chinese American author who emigrated from Vietnam to the United States when she was eighteen months old. She grew up in San Gabriel, California, a melting pot of Asian American culture that inspired many of her books and characters.

Lucy Zhang is a Chinese illustrator based in Sydney, Australia.

OUR STARRY STARRY NIGHT

BY JIMMY LIAO

Our Starry Starry Night is the story of two quiet souls who find each other when the world feels too big. She is an awkward girl struggling with troubles at home and school. He is the silent new neighbor who can only truly be himself when he is alone. Drawn together by feelings neither can name, the two form a fragile, fated friendship—one that offers comfort, escape, and a fleeting sense of wonder beneath a vast, star-filled sky.

In this breathtaking illustrated work, Jimmy Liao blends the visual wonder of a picture book with the emotional depth of a graphic novel. Spare, poetic text pairs with illustrations that expand the story with eye-opening details and even deeper feelings, inviting readers to linger, reflect, and return again and again. The result is an immersive reading experience that speaks as powerfully to adults as it does to young people navigating their own inexpressible emotions.

Originally published in Taiwan to critical acclaim, this modern classic has touched readers around the world and is now available in English for the first time. With starry foil accents and a double-gatefold spread that opens up to capture the sheer grandeur of Jimmy's art and storytelling, this beautiful paperback edition is both a moving story and a work of art.

Jimmy Liao is an international icon—one of the most renowned children's book authors in Taiwan and the broader Chinese-speaking world. He has been creating illustrated books for more than twenty years and has published over seventy different works to date. His works have been translated into over twenty languages and have sold millions of copies worldwide, garnering prestigious awards along the way.

HENRY'S UNIVERSE

Book 5

BY JENN BAILEY, ILLUSTRATED BY MIKA SONG

The fifth book in the acclaimed early reader series starring Henry, a sweet and sensitive first-grader on the autism spectrum, in a new classroom adventure about learning to listen and work together—from the Schneider Family Award and Theodor Seuss Geisel Honor–winning creators of A Friend for Henry and Henry, Like Always.

Henry and his class are learning about space, and Henry has a lot to share! But sometimes his words blast out as fast as a rocket, and he worries he won't know when to stop. To his surprise, his classmates are excited to learn from him, and even choose him to lead their group project.

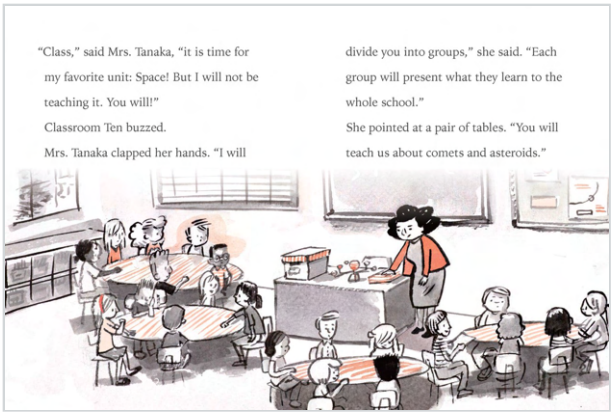

As Henry and his classmates work together, he discovers that sharing ideas is only one part of being a good leader. Everyone has something important to contribute, and creating something great means learning how to listen to one another.

This fifth book in the warmhearted Henry series invites young readers to see the world through Henry's eyes in a gentle, classic-feeling story, delivered with empathy and charm by author Jenn Bailey and illustrator Mika Song.

Jenn Bailey is an author, editor, blue-ribbon pie baker, and eager traveler. She received her MFA from the Vermont College of Fine Arts. Born and raised in Rhode Island, she now calls Leawood, Kansas, home. Although her kids insisted on growing up, she and her husband, Kevin, still share their space with numerous cats and dogs.

Mika Song grew up in Manila, Philippines, and Honolulu, Hawaii. She moved to New York City to attend Pratt Institute and worked in animation before making children's books. She lives in New York City with her husband and daughter.

TO HER OWN BEAT

BY BRINDA SHAH

A heartfelt middle-grade novel-in-verse about a young dancer finding her voice, challenging beauty standards, and learning to love the body she's in.

Thirteen-year-old Sumati Soni knows how to be a good kid.

She holds her tongue when relatives comment on her body. Stays quiet when a classmate throws hurtful words her way. Ignores those who make her Bharatanatyam dance class feel like torture.

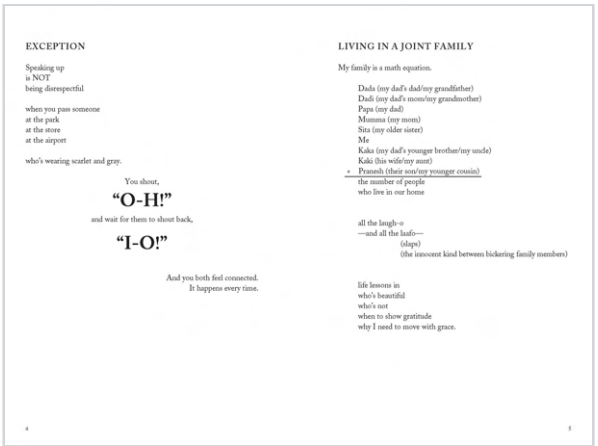

She knows she should always show respect-after all, her name means "good thoughts" in Sanskrit-and she tries to express herself through poetry and dance without offending anyone. But as she prepares to perform a solo in dance class and at her sister's wedding, the pressure builds. Even the people she hoped would be on her side, including her best friend and her mother, don't seem to have her back.

Now Sumati must learn to speak up and confront the generational beauty standards that have shaped how she sees herself-or continue to be weighed down by it all.

AN INDIES INTRODUCE TITLE!

Brinda Shah is an avid reader, perpetual thinker, and former pharmacist who lives in Dallas, Texas, with her family. Her writing is at the intersection of culture, identity, and humanity. She is inspired by her Indian heritage, the whimsy required to raise a child, and observations of the world around her. When she isn't writing, you can find Brinda collecting stamps in her passport, baking, hiking through national parks, or riding her bike. To Her Own Beat is her debut novel.

"Heartbreakingly honest and tender-hearted, To Her Own Beat is a call to all the good girls who've ever been afraid to talk back. Sumati's voice pours out of the page, and it was a joy to see her learn to take up the space she deserves. Brinda Shah is an author to watch." -Andrea Beatriz Arango, Newbery Honor-winning author of Iveliz Explains It All

EXCEPTION

Speaking up
is NOT being disrespectful

when you pass someone at the park
at the store
at the airport

who's wearing scarlet and gray.

You shout,
"O-H!"
and wait for them to shout back,
"I-O!"

And you both feel connected.
It happens every time.

Unicorns Coloring Book + Stickers

Get your coloring pencils ready to create magical pictures. Color in the spectacular artwork of happy unicorns trotting through stunning gardens, tending to their flowing manes, relaxing with their foals, and many more glorious scenes of your favorite mystical animal friends! When you’re done, decorate them with over 100 unicorn-themed stickers. Made using FSC paper and printed with vegetable inks, this is a plastic-free product.

Mosaic Sticker Activity: Mermaids

An underwater palace spans the four-panel foldout background—just waiting for your finishing touch. Use over 1,000 stickers to fill the mosaic-style artwork and bring the scene to life. But what's a palace without its residents? Match the dot colors to the stickers to create six standing characters: five fabulous mermaids and their adorable octopus friend. Once your scene is complete, use the double-sided background scene to stage your own undersea stories and put on a show!

Made using FSC materials and printed with vegetable inks, this set is plastic-free. The double-sided foldout background measures 34 in / 86 cm.

Word Flip

Think fast, speak faster! What's something scary that starts with T? Why has every animal disappeared from your brain? Surely there's something in your fridge beginning with F? (Hint: It's food, you fool!) Prepare to play at pace as each card is flipped and you race to think of a word that links the letters in front of you to the category in the middle. Be the first to shout out an answer, then flip your used letter to reveal a new category, so you'd better keep that brain whirring! Suitable for 2 to 15 players and takes around 20 minutes to play. This game is printed on FSC paper with soy inks and made using 30% recycled materials.

Drunken Pirates

Avast ye and look alive, for this be your greatest challenge. In this dress-up drinking game of ill-gotten gains, the aim is to build the biggest Bounty—but 'tis the cards that decide your fate. Will you take charge as Captain? Lose your voice to Calypso? Or pay the Finger Hook penalty? You'll challenge mateys to battles and duels where the winner takes all, while the losers must drink. Inside the box, you'll find a treasure trove of 100 Game cards, 100 Coin cards, 4 Pirate eye patches, 1 Captain's Hat, 1 Parrot press-out, 1 Gold Doubloon, 1 Finger Hook, 1 plastic shot glass, 1 wooden plank, and instructions. This is a social game that does not necessarily require the use of alcohol.
