FAMILIUS

Welcome to the

FAMILY

When I was 12 years old, my 92-year-old grandfather and I went on a two-week vacation to the Hawaiian islands—just the two of us. Of the many life lessons he taught me during that vacation, my grandfather encouraged me to memorize this quote by Ralph Waldo Emerson:

“Sow a thought and you reap an action; sow an act and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a character; sow a character and you reap a destiny.”

When my wife, Michele, and I launched Familius, we wanted to do something that we felt was important and meaningful. We had seen the direct influence of both healthy and unhealthy habits within a family—and the positive and negative results of those habits. We are not naïve. Michele and I have nine children. I come from a loving but broken home. Our family experiences have included both happiness and joy, as well as moments of frustration, disappointment, and sadness. We believe that there is opposition in all things and that happiness has its opposite—sadness.

However, we also believe that happy family life is primarily predicated on habits that, well, lead to happiness. We believe that most of us already understand the principles espoused by that Emerson quote. The challenge is in sowing thoughts and habits so we can eventually reap the benefits of those actions.

At Familius, we don't define what a family should look like. Instead, we invite all people and all families to embrace the habits we believe will help build a happy family: love together, read together, talk together, play together, laugh together, heal together, eat together, work together, learn together, and give together.

Familius believes that the most important work you will ever do will be within the walls of your own home. So, is there a Familius habit that you think might add to your family's success and happiness? Family life is challenging. But a family is not meant to be endured; a family is meant to be enjoyed. And it's up to us individually to sow the habits that will bring about joy. We hope that you will find these habits and the content Familius publishes helpful as you work to help your family be a little bit happier. Good luck!

Zahra sees the world in vivid color. When she's happy, she feels a razzle-dazzle pink in her hands. When she's sad, she feels a deep blue behind her eyes. But she isn't quite sure how to feel about the color of her skin. Kids at school tell her she is different, but her mother tells her to be proud! From a diverse team and based on extensive research, The Proudest Color is a timely, sensitive introduction to race, racism, and racial pride. Ages 5–8

Sheila Modir is a pediatric psychologist and Jeff Kashou is a marriage and family therapist. As Middle Eastern Americans (Iranian and Palestinian) and as clinicians, they advocate for diversity, equity, and inclusion and work toward promoting resilience in children.

Monica Mikai is an illustrator and former educator. She has an MFA from the New York Studio School, where she studied painting, and currently lives in Atlanta, Georgia, with her husband, two sons, and her sassy cat, Nima.

- This uplifting story is essential for BIPOC children and their families to share.
- The Proudest Color stands out from other books as it is written by a team of a pediatric psychologist and a marriage and family therapist who pulled from their professional backgrounds and personal experiences as people of color.
- The actions in the book are rooted in evidence-based practices of racial socialization and show parents how to engage their children in learning how to counteract negative and harmful messages.
- The Proudest Color is a fun, gentle, and creative way of teaching kindergarten to third graders about race, racism, and emotion identification.

I am like a box of crayons—bright and colorful. I see and feel in color.

When I am PROUD, I feel a beautiful brown in my heart. But, for me, brown is more than feeling proud.

The night before my first day of school, my mom tucks me into bed and kisses my forehead. She says, "Zahra, you felt many different colors today, but your beautiful brown skin is here to stay.
ALL THOSE FEELINGS COME AND GO, BUT YOUR BROWN SKIN GLOWS AND GLOWS."

I press my arm against my mom's, and I like seeing the differences and similarities in our shades of brown.

It is the color of your old school PRINCIPAL, who high-fived the students as he walked down the hallway.
It is the color of your DOCTOR, who helps you feel better when you are sick.

It is the color of MARTIN LUTHER KING JR., who inspired America with his dream of equality.

If all the world hated you,
and believed you wicked,
while your own conscience approved you, and
absolved you from guilt,
you would not be without friends.

I became friends with another student named Helen Burns. She was very sick, but patient and wise.
Helen believed that all of the bad things that happen in life would one day be made right. I wasn't so sure.

When I was old enough, my aunt sent me away to school. Lowood Orphan Asylum had strict rules, but the headmistress,
Miss Temple, was very kind.

Sadly, Helen passed away, and I missed her terribly!

The demands of a new baby can test a couple's relationship like nothing else! When we factor in sleep deprivation, hormonal changes, depression and anxiety, and different personalities, life with a newborn can feel a bit CRAZY. Couples tend to misinterpret this rough patch as a sign that something is wrong with the relationship, but when couples take steps toward open communication and safeguard their relationship, they can face everything new parenthood throws at them together. From the team behind the bestselling Good Moms Have Scary Thoughts comes a new guidebook of short essays, comics, and quick journal prompts about the stressful newborn stage, the struggles that so many new parents face, and the skills you need to tap into your strength as a couple.

If you grew up without a father figure, you might worry whether you have what it takes to be a great dad. Author Kendall Smith, son of a single mother, takes you under his wing and shares the wisdom he has gathered from his own experience as a father, from observing father figures in his life, and from interviewing fathers from all walks of life. This playbook for men who, like Smith, did not have a regular and dependable father figure is packed with short lessons to answer questions new dads will face, from choosing your parenting style to what it means to really be the “man of the house” (spoiler alert: it’s not the 1950s) to managing your expectations as your child grows into a unique person. With hilarious examples and a straightforward approach, Rookie Father is the mentor-in-a-book every new father needs to be the dad you wished you had.

- Author Kendall Smith has built a community of fatherless men who support each other in becoming fathers themselves.
- Bite-sized pieces of advice are perfect for new dads to read and digest quickly.
- A relatable tone helps new dads from the same background as Smith feel at home.

Life Reconstructed

Navigating the World of Mastectomies and Breast Reconstruction

KIM HARMS

One in eight women will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of her lifetime, but this is not just another cancer book. Breast cancer survivor Kim Harms combines her own experience with extensive research and walks readers through the process of mastectomy and breast reconstruction, weighing the pros and cons, detailing the financial and emotional costs, and laying out the questions cancer fighters need to ask to be their own best advocate. With a foreword by the medical director of Katzmann Breast Center and chapters on everything from the vulnerable feeling of exposing your breasts to “everyone” to the distinctions between reconstruction and augmentation (trust us, it’s not a boob job!), Life Reconstructed is the compassionate, honest roadmap every breast cancer fighter needs on her journey to recovery.

The 8 Myths of Marriaging

Making Marriage a Verb and Replacing Myth with Truth

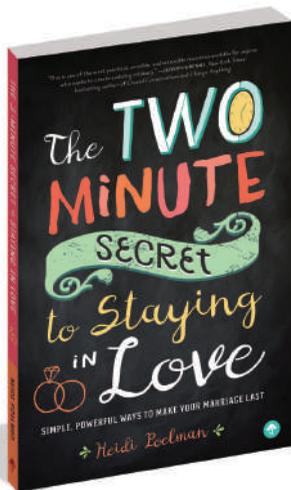

BY RICHARD AND LINDA EYRE

New York Times #1 bestselling authors of Teaching Your Children Values and relationship experts Richard and Linda Eyre explore the eight most common myths about marriage and the truth about how to have a successful and fulfilling marriage.

Exploring equality versus synergy, completion versus individual quest, harmony versus productive debate, a test drive versus constant commitment, and more, the Eyres show that popular opinions and behaviors toward successful marriages actually reduce the chance of marriage fulfillment.

Drawing on more than fifty years of marriage and hundreds of interviews across the world, The 8 Myths of Marriaging is a must-read book for anyone considering marriage or currently nurturing their marriage of many years.

Praise for A Land Twice Promised

“Truth is never black and white. Baum guides us through the shades of gray with love and wisdom.” —Rabbi Sid Schwarz, Senior Fellow, Clal: The National Jewish Center for Learning and Leadership

“In this touching and honest memoir, Baum shares the story of how her search for peace informed her life. Baum’s genuine desire to make a difference may well inspire others to do the same.” —Publishers Weekly

“An inspiration and a pathway to all who yearn for peace.” —Gerda Weissmann Klein, Holocaust survivor and author of All But My Life

A Land Twice Promised

Noa Baum

A Land Twice Promised delves into the heart of one of the world’s most enduring and complex conflicts. Baum’s deeply personal memoir recounts her journey from girlhood in post-Holocaust Israel to her adult encounter with “the other.” With honesty, compassion, and humor, she captures the drama of a nation at war and her discovery of humanity in the enemy.

Born and raised in Jerusalem, Noa Baum is an award-winning storyteller. She performs and teaches internationally with diverse audiences ranging from The World Bank, the US Defense Department, and prestigious universities and congregations to inner-city schools and detention centers.

Somewhere in the City

J.B. Frank, illustrations by Yu Leng

The sights and sounds of the city come alive in a magical way as Lucy waits eagerly for her father to return from work. Lucy's view of dogs, bakers, and buses is juxtaposed with her father's journey through crowds, trains, and finally home to tuck her in. Detailed illustrations contrast a child's fantastical view of the world with reality, all leading up to a cozy finish that will make this a perfect bedtime book for city children everywhere.

No Matter What

Yulia Pankratova

Chameleon is sad because he doesn't have a color of his own. He borrows yellow from the sun, pink from an orchid, and orange from a tiger, but will there be enough color for everyone? With gorgeous, colorful illustrations and a message about the power of giving, The Chameleon's True Colors is the picture book every family needs on their shelf.

Dear Moon

Stephen Wunderli and Maria Luisa Di Gravio

Max and Ely are best friends, but each night the moon marks the passage of time, closer and closer to the day Ely will go to the hospital. They build a rocket, launch to the moon, and keep it from moving. In this poignant story of grief and healing, Max learns that time will keep ticking and loss is inevitable, but memories last forever, and the ones we love will always be with us, certain as the moon will wax and wane.

No Matter What

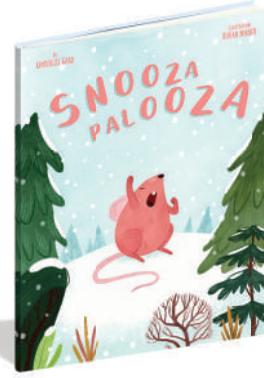

Josh Shipp and Yulia Pankratova

Josh was a squirrel without a family. Josh didn't want a family, either. He did everything he could to scare families away first, but the elephants weren't like other families. The elephants were very large and very patient, and they wanted Josh to be part of their family today, tomorrow, and the day after tomorrow.

From award-winning motivational speaker and bestselling author Josh Shipp comes a mostly autobiographical tale about finding home.

Dear Santa, Love, Texas

Michele Robbins and Pham Quang Phuc

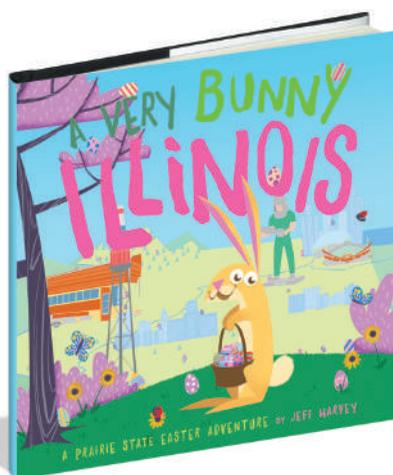

Santa is all ready to leave on Christmas Eve, but last-minute letters are arriving from Texas! From a little girl who is wishing for snow, to a bluebonnet, guadalupe bass, and mockingbird all looking for a bit more attention, to the bears asking the reindeer for a play date, each letter contains a humorous request that gets even Santa chuckling. Even better, each letter comes tucked in its own pocket envelope with other delightful extras like cards, money for toll roads, and even a map of Texas! How will Santa respond? It's Texas Christmas magic you'll have to see!
