The Ultimate Book of Water

Ultimate Book™

By Anne-Sophie Baumann and Arnaud Lemaistre · Illustrated by Vanessa Robidou

Discover the absorbing world of water! From a tiny drop to an enormous ocean, one of Earth's most important natural resources flows over land and underground, forms glaciers, and is even found in the air. With detailed information thoroughly researched and vetted by scientists, engineers, and water resource experts, the book includes more than 60 flaps, pop-ups, pull-tabs, and rotating wheels. Pull the tabs to move sea creatures in the ocean, turn the page for a huge pop-up of the water cycle, and lift flaps to see how water travels through a tree, from its roots to its leaves. An immersive and satisfying hands-on learning experience! @

The City Transforms!

The city is like a living thing that keeps growing and changing. Some buildings are destroyed while others are being built. There's always construction!

The work from the demolition is sometimes recycled. Iron and steel become a useful item to be reused, and the concrete is crushed to make road.

Building process

More apartment buildings, offices, and schools are built on the remains of the city that has been demolished. Construction is happening more and more every day.

I Double Dare You!

By Paule Battault

Illustrated by Charlotte Ameling

Who’s afraid of the big bad wolf . . . or the hairy ogre . . . or the warty witch? For everyone who was brave enough to open up last year’s bestselling I Dare You!, here comes an even scarier, funnier, and definitely stickier touch-and-feel surprise! This time, Nightmare Monsters are everywhere . . . and young readers have to chase them away . . . but only if they dare! As they meet each cheerfully illustrated fearsome creature and feel the hair-raising textures, children will very likely scream, squeal, and giggle as they scare away all the monsters . . . again and again and again! So, go ahead, I double dare you! @

Numbers

Zoe and Zack™

By Jacques Duquennoy

Zoe and Zack are best friends. They do everything together! In their latest learning adventure, the two pals show toddlers just how fun counting can be! While Zack juggles colorful balls with his feet or balances them on his head, Zoe makes the numbers with her body. Each number and ball has a grainy texture, which encourages children to learn by touch as well as sound. They can also easily identify numbers with the sturdy, tabbed pages. And what's more, each spread shows what each number looks like on dice and when counting with fingers. A great addition to a toddler's library of early concept books! ☺

Hooray for Little Fingers!

By Tristan Mory

1, 2, 3, 4, 5! What can 5 little fingers do? Tickle, wiggle, dance—and much more! In this irresistible board book, young readers learn to count and explore just what their little fingers can do—by putting them through the die-cut holes on the cover and each spread. One little finger can be an elephant's trunk, two little fingers can be a crab's claw . . . but who's that peeking through one of the holes? The wriggly surprise at the end makes for a satisfying discovery in this book that practices basic counting and encourages imaginative play. Hooray for little fingers! @
