Historically Inaccurate

by Shay Bravo

 222K Reads

Soledad "Sol" Gutierrez is just trying to keep her life together after her mother's deportation to Mexico. As if holding down a part-time job and full course load weren't enough, Sol decides to join the history club at her community college. But the club comes with an odd initiation process: break into the oldest house in town and steal a fork...?

A little unorthodox, sure, but Sol is determined to get into the club. There's just one problem: Ethan Winston, the grandson to the owners of the house and the one person (literally) standing in her way. When the club's activities seem to fall further on the side of nefarious, Sol and Ethan must come together to uncover what's really going on, and Sol begins to understand that fitting in is just as hard as being yourself, sometimes even harder.

The Bro Code

by Elizabeth Seibert

 20.7M Reads

Heading into his senior year, Cassidy High's star soccer player has his priorities straight and intends to spend his time playing sports, hanging out, and living by the code. But when his best bro Carter's sister Eliza returns from studying overseas, the awkward, academic girl Nick remembers is different.

Carter might be Nick's bro, but Eliza becomes his whole world—and choosing between them is unimaginable. Ultimately, Nick needs to decide if being with the girl of his dreams is worth breaking The Bro Code's most important rule of all: never date your best bro's sister . . . because he simply can't have both.

In the City of the Nightmare King

by V.S. Santoni

 57.5K Reads

After the events of I'm A Gay Wizard, Johnny wakes up in his dad's car, on their way into Misthaven, where his dad claims he's found a new job. Johnny's memories of being trapped at the Marduk Institute don't seem like a passing dream, so he quickly surmises something is amiss. It isn't until his friend Alison shows up at his front door, with her memories still intact, that he determines the Institute has somehow trapped them in a false reality.

The Invincible Summer of Juniper Jones by Daven McQueen

📖 605K Reads

It's the summer of 1955. For Ethan Harper, a biracial kid raised mostly by his white father, race has always been a distant conversation.

When he's sent to spend the summer with his aunt and uncle in small-town Alabama, his blackness is suddenly front and center, and no one is shy about making it known he's not welcome there. Enter Juniper Jones. The town's resident oddball and free spirit, she's everything the townspeople aren't—open, kind, and accepting.

Armed with two bikes and an unlimited supply of root beer floats, Ethan and Juniper set out to find their place in a town that's bent on rejecting them. As Ethan is confronted for the first time by what it means to be black in America, Juniper tries to help him see the beauty in even the ugliest reality, and that even the darkest days can give rise to an invincible summer. . .

474K Reads

When her mother unceremoniously dumps her at Camp Mapplewood for the summer, Emma Lane's hopes of repairing their fractured relationship are gone with the wind. Now she's stuck in the wilderness facing her worst fears. Trees? Terrifying. Spiders? Even worse. And don't even get Emma started on how she feels about camp activities.

But Emma's got a plan, and she will do anything in her power to get kicked out of camp, from sleeping in to practical jokes on her fellow campers. Yet when Emma draws the attention of her illusive and attractive camp counsellor Vivian Black, she has to come to terms with the fact that how her summer starts isn't necessarily how it might end. Will Vivian be the key to unlocking Emma's fears once and for all?

"As you might expect from a book released slowly online, chapter by chapter, the promise of untold secrets is high—but it's also an unexpectedly tender, nuanced novel, and I devoured [Trapeze]." - Marie Claire

"The Opposite of Falling Apart is a gratifying story whose sympathetic teen leads challenge each other to face their fears, let one another in, and recognize what's right in front of them." - Foreword Reviews

"VERDICT An emotional and ultimately sweet story that explores college life through the lens of disability." - School Library Journal
