Whistleblower

Kate Marchant

Fresh contemporary new adult fiction--with #metoo at its heart.

When Laurel Cates uncovers a shocking story about Garland's football coach, it takes all of her courage to publish the story in the school's paper. And when it reverberates around the country, the ramifications are both personal and professional. But nowhere are the repercussions stronger than in Laurel's everyday life as she can't seem to avoid Bodie St. James, the star quarterback, whose own career now hangs on the brink as a result of her article...

Kate Marchant started writing on Wattpad when she was fifteen years old. Today, she's a proud member of the Wattpad Futures program and holds a bachelor's in creative writing from the University of Southern California. She lives in the San Francisco Bay Area and has been everything from an editorial intern at an online dictionary to copywriter at a startup. Whistleblower is her debut novel.

The Summer I Drowned

Taylor Hale

Sea Glass is Wattpad’s version of domestic noir where a 17-year-old girl returns to Cape Cod the summer before her final year of school to find closure after suffering a traumatic incident five y...

“Five years ago, I drowned, and I’ve felt dead ever since.”

After nearly drowning, Olivia is finally back in Caldwell Beach for the summer to reconnect with her old life and face her fear of the water. But things have changed in the sleepy town, and Olivia's friends have grown up.

But the closer Olivia gets to one of her old friends, West, the stranger the things are that keep happening in her life. When Olivia can't stop seeing shadows and hearing voices, she's certain someone's trying to scare her out of town. Desperate to catch the person harassing her, Olivia slips into a downward spiral of obsessiveness and paranoia, until it comes down to not only finding her stalker -- but proving that they're real.

Taylor Hale is a Canadian author with a love for contemporary YA. Some of her stories are more on the romantic side, while others border on thrillers, but she always aims for one thing: realistic, flawed characters who someone, somewhere can relate to. When she isn't writing about topics such as mental health and addiction, she can be found playing Nintendo games, binge-reading horror manga, and bartending at a live music venue.

Night Owls and Summer Skies

Rebecca Sullivan

Lumberjanes meets the frothy, fun tone of a YA Marian Keyes in this cute romance between two girls away at summer camp

Emma Lane's forced to face her fears when her mother unceremoniously dumps her on the doorstep of Camp Mapplewood, abandoning her for the summer while she heads off on a cruise with her latest husband. It's the last place Emma wants to be with scary creatures, creepy crawlies, and much that can go bump in the night. When Emma breaks into the tool shed on her first day there, the fall out from her escapades leads her right into the path of her counsellor, Vivian Black. . . .

Rebecca Sullivan is a young writer living in Ireland

Fight For Her

Liz Plum

Liz Plum's I Fight For Her has tones of John Hughes and Nicholas Sparks--where Scarlet and Elijah, two teenagers with different backgrounds find one another, and come to terms with lies that can ...

At first glance, Scarlet Tucker lives the perfect life. Her family owns a successful business, and she's dating the school's quarterback. But the delicate balance she keeps between her private and her life outside her family starts to fray the minute she meets and befriends Elijah Black, the school's most bullied outcast. Scarlet quickly learns her life is not perfect, and that there is more to Elijah than meets the eye. Through Elijah, her family secrets are revealed, and Scarlet gets caught in the middle of the mess her family tried to keep hidden from the rest of the world.

Liz Plum is a young writer from Virginia. She loves writing, reading, and playing tennis.

Entwined

A.J. Rosen

Greek mythology reimagined with the vigor of The Hunger Games, A. J. Rosen’s epic tale follows a young woman who is faced with deciding between her heart and her destiny in the days leading up to...

Finding your other half can get a little twisted

For Greek god descendant, Avery Montgomery, turning eighteen is a big deal. Not only is it her ticket to the Court, the world’s most lavish party for descendants, it also unlocks the ability to hear a “click” with her one true soul mate. As her eighteenth birthday looms, Avery finds herself drawn to two royal descendants who couldn’t be more different—from each other, and from Ava herself—as she stumbles upon a dark side of the Court, which pushes her towards a revelation that will forever alter her past, and her future.

A.J. Rosen is a twenty-three-year-old Wattpad Ambassador who splits her time between full-time school and writing YA romance. She’s the founder of online movements like #ilovemyflaws (which supports victims of bullying) and #CareforCancer (which supports the loved ones of those battling cancer). She currently lives and studies in Singapore. Entwined is her first novel.

Along for the Ride

Rachel Meinke

Imagine if your brother was a Justin Bieber-like pop star? And your parents forced you to go on tour?

Connor Jackson. These two words make every girl go crazy, screaming and begging for a chance to meet him. He's the world's biggest pop star, but for seventeen-year-old Katelyn Jackson: he's just her older brother. When she's forced to put her competitive soccer dreams on hold to go along on his US summer tour, she's unimpressed. But when she meets the lead singer of his opening act, everything changes and life on the road takes a whole different turn.

Rachel Meinke has been writing on Wattpad since 2011. A Wattpad Star, Rachel has published over 20 stories on her Wattpad profile and has garnered over 300-million reads. Some of her most popular stories include Along For The Ride, My Brother's Best Friend and Living With The Walker Boys. She has won several Watty Awards and the momentum has followed her onto social media where she has acquired a following of over 225,000 people. # The Invincible Summer of Juniper Jones

Daven McQueen

Daven McQueen's Juniper Jones is a character for all ages in this sweet coming of age story set in '50s Alabama.

It's the summer of 1955. And Ethan Harper is half-black and half-white, having grown up in a city that is blessed with color blindness. Intolerance is as distant to him as the moon, until his parents send him to spend the summer with his aunt in Alabama, and no one is shy about making it known he's not welcome there... except for Juniper Jones. The town's resident oddball and free spirit, she's everything they're not—open, free, and full of acceptance.

Armed with two bikes and an unlimited supply of root beer floats, Ethan and Juniper set out to find their place in a town that's bent on rejecting them. And it's through the lens of Juniper's rose-tinted glasses that Ethan learns to see the beauty in even the ugliest faces of reality, finding that even the darkest winter can give rise to an invincible summer.

Daven McQueen is a student and writer from Los Angeles, California. She has always loved telling stories, but only started writing regularly after joining Wattpad at age fourteen. In high school, she received two national medals from the Scholastic Art and Writing Awards in the novel category. She enjoys experimenting with genre, and has written science-fiction, thriller, romance, action, and humor. Now, she is continuing her passion for writing at Brown University, where she is pursuing a doubl...
