The Case of the Missing Turtle

A Math Adventure

by Dave Cole, illustrated by Matty Mitchell

A Letter from the Publisher

We are excited for the Winter 2024
Common Deer Press book launches!

Our Fall 2023 releases continued the Asha and Baz and Lucy and Dee series. As well, there was an exciting new title, Iz The Apocalypse, released for young adult readers. These titles are perfect for curling up with on the short, dark days to come and make great gifts for the holiday season.

With the new Winter season, we have a new series launching for our Early Readers, Emily and Sam, written by the same author who brought us The Math Kids. Like The Math Kids, this new series aims to both entertain and teach in a fast-paced and exciting way.

There's more excitement when Asha and Baz have a volcano adventure and The Math Kids must save the reputation of one of their own by proving his innocence.

We are fortunate to work with incredible people who are as passionate about children and teen books as we are. Independent publishers work very hard to bring books to readers. We thank you for your continued support and look forward to bringing you more uncommon books in 2024

My very best,
Kirsten Marion, Publisher

Emily and Sam: The Case of the Missing Turtle

Dave Cole, illustrated by Matty Mitchell

From the creator of The Math Kids comes a new educational early reader series!

Siblings Emily and Sam are always ready to learn new things. When they find a box turtle and decide to adopt it, they need to learn what to feed it and how to create a safe home for it. But just as they're getting the hang of caring for their new pet, it goes missing! Someone must have taken the turtle, but who? It's up to Emily and Sam to find out.

David Cole has been interested in math since he was a very young boy. He pursued degrees in math and computer science and has shared this love of math at many levels, including teaching at the college level, coaching elementary math teams, and running a summer math camp. He also has a love of writing and has written a number of plays that have been performed. The Math Kids was born of a desire to combine his interests and exercise both sides of his brain at the same time. Find him on his website TheMathKids.com or on Facebook, Twitter, and LinkedIn.

Matty Mitchel was born and raised in Australia but found his way to Seattle eleven years ago and has recently moved back to Fremantle, Western Australia with his wife, son, daughter, and dog. If Matty's not chasing (or being chased by) his two munchkins, he's drawing, and if he's not drawing, then he can be found making something creative, and if he's not creating something, then he is skateboarding, and if that's not the case, then he is probably snuggling with his lovely wife on the couch watching TV.

Asha and Baz Meet Katia Krafft

Caroline Fernandez, illustrated by Dharmali Patel

In the fourth book in the Asha and Baz series, readers learn about volcanoes from renowned volcanologist Katia Krafft!

Asha wants to win a super cool volcanic rock by solving the Great Volcano Challenge at school. So she and her best friend Baz use their magic stick to travel to Iceland in 1973 to learn from famous volcano researcher Katia Krafft.

She's sure to be able to help them with their project, but she's got an eruption to observe and data to record—and ash, lava, and smelly gases are a lot scarier than a classroom. With safety concerns rising, Asha and Baz will need to keep their cool to get back home and win the prize.

Caroline Fernandez is an award-winning author of children's books, magazine feature articles, and blog posts. She is the author of the popular Boredom Busters (series), Stop Reading This Book, The Adventures of Grandmasaurus (series), Asha and Baz (series) and more! Math Kids: An Unsolved Proof

David Cole, illustrated by Shannon O'Toole

Hidden cameras, secret operations, and new math concepts await in the Math Kids' ninth adventure!

Justin has been accused of stealing from the comic book shop! To earn back the trust of his parents and the store manager, he'll have to work at the shop for four whole weekends. And that puts a damper on his plans to play video games and hang out with fellow Math Kids, Jordan, Catherine, and Stephanie.

With the end of summer approaching, the four friends realize that finding proof of Justin's innocence is their only way to save Justin's good name. To get it, they'll need to uncover who really stole the comics. Their primary suspects are the two older boys who accused Justin, but catching them red-handed will require more than just teamwork.

Solving this problem will require knowledge of proofs and patterns, and if the Math Kids aren't successful, it won't be only Justin's reputation at risk.

David Cole has been interested in math since he was a very young boy. Lucy and Dee: The Caves of Wonder

Kirsten Marion

Trapped and on the run!

Lucy and Dee are stranded in the magical world of Sericea with the young emperor Yidi as they flee his stepmother Xixi, the sorceress queen. Hiding their true identities to protect both themselves and their new friend Mai, the group must make the hazardous trip across Sericea to the Caves of Wonder to find the White Tiger, a fabled warrior who could help them defeat Xixi. Along their risky journey, developing talents and rumors of revolution challenge their resolve and friendship. Dangers lurk around every corner, and if Lucy, Dee, and Yidi can't face them together, their lives and the very fate of Sericea will be in peril.

Kirsten Marion completed undergraduate studies in English and Classics and a postgraduate degree in psychology, which helps inform the voices and motivations of her characters. Iz the Apocalypse

Susan CurrieA fierce voice longs to break free.

A spark ignites inside fourteen-year-old Iz Beaufort when she hears school music group Manifesto perform. Even though she hasn't written a song since That Place, she recognizes herself in the moving performance and longs to be part of the group, certain that they might actually understand her.

But Manifesto is based at the prestigious Métier School, and Iz has bounced through twenty-six foster homes. Plus, there's no way Dominion Children's Care would ever send a foster kid to a private school when a public option is available. So Iz does what any passionate, broken, off-the-chart wunderkind might and takes matters into her own hands.

Iz fakes her way in, only to face a new set of challenges: tuition fees, tough classwork, and new classmates she can't immediately identify as friends or foes. And if she can't handle all this while keeping how she got into Métier a secret, she could get kicked out of both school and her current home.

But a life with music—a life where Iz gets to have a voice—might be worth risking everything.

Susan Currie is an elementary teacher in Brampton, Ontario (22 years and counting). Before she entered the public school system, she earned a living as an accompanist, pit musician, music director, choir director, organist, dinner musician, leader of various music programs for children, and piano teacher. She has written two other books—Basket of Beethoven (Fitzhenry and Whiteside, 2001) and The Mask That Sang (Second Story Press, 2016). Susan is an adoptee who was in the foster care system briefly as a baby, and only learned of her Haudenosaunee heritage (Cayuga Nation, Turtle Clan) as an adult. She is happily married to John and has a wonderful daughter named Rachel.

Where is the line between good and evil?

Deep below the market, in the dark tunnels no human knows exist, a war has begun. Lead by the charismatic Beloved Chairman, a colony of rats plots to exterminate the ugly two-legs who have tortured them in labs, crushed them with boots, and looked at them with disgust for as long as anyone can remember. When the Chairman's nephew is injured and a young two-leg nurses him back to health, however, doubt about the war creeps in. Now the colony is split: obey the Chairman and infect the two-legs with the ancient sickness passed down from the Old Ones, or do the unthinkable . . . rebel.

When a mysterious black cat leads her into the unknown attic, she meets Clare and his very sick sister, Eva. Together Maddy and Clare jump into a money-making scheme in his uncle's dangerous soap factory to buy a cure for Eva. But an unexpected tragedy befalls them before Maddy is pulled back into her own time to confront the premature birth of her own sister. Will the skills she learned in the past help her solve the problems of the present? As the Girl from the Attic, Maddy must rise to the challenges of both worlds to find her own place in the life of the octagon.

Half Grandma.
 Half dinosaur.
 All mischief.

Series-
 Book 1

“Grandma keeps running off and doing funny business. On a field trip! And if she doesn’t stop, we’ll miss the school bus.”

With each sneeze, Grandma turns into a different dinosaur and takes off. It’s up to me and Moonie to track her down and keep her from making a mess of the museum—before we miss the bus back home!

Bite into a new adventure with Grandmasaurus!

Series-
 Book 3

The grocery store may be a normal place to visit, but there’s nothing normal about a Grandma who magically sneezes herself into different dinosaurs! When Grandma’s dinosaur antics threaten to make a mess of the store, it’s up to her grandchildren to find and stop her—even if they have healthy eating reports to write.

“A worthy addition to home,
 school and public libraries.”

She's about to face her greatest enemy: her future self.

Orphaned and made bionic after a mysterious accident, Wren Derecho becomes enmeshed with an enigmatic power source. During her journey to navigate the pain of grief and loss, she crosses paths with three individuals with talents and traumas of their own. Wren and her team quickly discover that the hero of any story can easily become the villain as they travel through time so Wren can defeat her greatest enemy: herself.

All they wanted was their forever homes.

When a motley group of orphans steals an ancient artifact from the Golden Age of Piracy and a treasure map drawn in blood, what they get is an epic adventure.

A time-travel novel with unexpected twists and adventure.

Julian believes he's finally escaped his father's calamities. Until a vaguely familiar 20-year-old man walks out of the bedroom closet and says he's future Julian.

Turns out his (their?) inventor father's latest contraption, the eTab, alters time. When grown-up Julian travelled into the past, he dropped his cell phone on a Civil War battlefield. It was, what the sarcastic crowd might call, a bone-headed move.

Now, Grown-Up Julian needs Young Julian to help him retrieve his cell phone before the future is unpredictably changed. No pressure.

A tale of ghosts, grief, and recovery.

Isabel Wixon sees ghosts. Her friends consist of a talkative ventriloquist's dummy and a gentlemanly spider living in her hair. Real friends? Too hard. Inventing friends—much easier. Inventing the Boatman—a terrible monster that lures kids into a permanent sleeping sickness—probably wasn't one of her better ideas.
